Home Court Advantage INOIS

"The electricity that Orange Krush and the rest of the fans provide makes the Assembly Hall an intimidating venue for our opponents. The entire atmosphere really energizes us and makes it exciting to play in the Hall."

-Lucas Johnson on playing at the Assembly Hall

When it's time to take the game on the court, Illinois has an outstanding home in Assembly Hall. The Hall has served as home to the Fighting Illini since its construction in 1963 and in 1999 it became even better after a multi-million dollar construction project that brought the team a new locker room, state-of-the-art training room, a dining area and a new tunnel area to accommodate network television trucks and team buses.

Illinois opened play at the Assembly Hall on March 4, 1963 with a 79-73 victory over Northwestern. Since that first game, the Illini have racked up a 397-117 (.772) mark, including a 126-35 slate in the 1990s. Since 1963, Illinois has sold out 130 games at the Assembly Hall, which seats 16,450. Illinois set an all-time attendance record on March 9, 1996 when 16,863 fans jammed into the Hall to witness Lou Henson's

"That was the best atmosphere I've ever been a part of. The crowd was going nuts. They deserve a tremendous pat on the back. They were one of the reasons we won."

final regular season game as head coach. In the past five seasons, Illinois has produced a 54-12 record at home, including a 12-0 record last year.

In addition to hosting the Fighting Illini, the Assembly Hall also holds performances for Broadway musicals, concerts and other shows. Last season KISS, Matchbox 20, the WWF and the Dixie Chicks were some of the performers that took the stage at Assembly Hall.

NATIONAL ATTENDANCE LEADERS

Each of the last 25 years, the Big Ten Conference has won the national attendance title for home games. In 2001, the league set a new standard for conference attendance as 2,342,022 fans passed through the turnstiles (an all-time high for any conference) for a 13,383 per game average. The Illini were in the Top 13 nationally in home attendance and overall attendance.

Six times the Illini have played before a crowd of over 30,000 fans. On Dec. 6, 1997 the Illinois-Saint Louis game drew a crowd of 32,429 at the TWA Dome in St. Louis. It was the largest crowd to ever watch a basketball game in the state of Missouri and it ranks as the fifth-largest crowd to ever watch a Fighting Illini game.

THE FLYING ILLINI REUNION

The Flying Illini of 1989 returned to the UI campus on June 24, 2000 to play in a charity celebrity basketball game. Key members of the '89 team, including Kenny Battle, Nick Anderson, Kendall Gill and Steve Bardo, took on a celebrity team consisting of several former Illini basketball and football players. Proceeds from the game established a Flying Illini Basketball Scholarship.

Others from the '89 team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four who were attendance included P.J. Bowman, Travis Smith, E.J. Manzke, Tyler Cottingham, Mark Shapland, Pat Kennedy and Mike McDonald. The Flying Illini posted a 72-65 victory in front of thousands at the Assembly Hall with Gill leading in scoring with 16 points.

Academics IS ILLINOIS

In the fall of 1997, the Irwin Academic Cenrer opened on the campus of the University of Illinois. Conveniently located in the center of campus, it offers the very best in academic services to Illinois student-athletes. In addition to the academic offices, it houses study areas, an expansive computer room, and meeting rooms that over 600 student-athletes use throughout the year.

The Illini basketball coaching staff places academics at the top of the list when it comes to priorities and the results are overwhelming. In the past four years, nine basketball players have earned their degree.

As part of the academic services department, the academic support staff members also coordinate programs that enhance the college experience and prepare each student-athlete for life after college. Some of the programs that are included are a workshop on alcoholism on college campuses, time management workshops and seminars on note taking skills and preparing for exams.

He was a three-time co-captain as a player under then-coach Lou Henson and helped the Illini to a 70-49 record and two trips to the NCAA Tournament in his four seasons.

Strength and Conditioning VIS

It takes more to become a championship-caliber team than just showing up for the first day of practice. Kevin Early, the Illinois basketball strength and conditioning coach, is committed to seeing each player on the team become the best basketball player he can be.

"Strength training can have a significant effect on the athletic performance of a basketball team," Early said. "I believe through hard work and focusing on each individuals' goals, needs and physical strengths and weaknesses we can reach the ultimate goal of becoming a better basketball team."

"Working closly with Rod Cardinal and the coaching staff we can most effectively and efficiently design a workout plan that best suits team and individual goals."

Early also uses a hands-on approach to strength and conditioning training to ensure that the student-athlete is doing the exercises correctly.

Early also emphasizes the mental preparation and focus of strength training requires and how it prepares the players for the battle of the game. One of the main goals of the strength training program is to prevent injury during the long and grueling Big Ten basketball season.

"It is a long season with a lot of games with each and every team gunning for the top team in the conference.

The team

that is in the best shape, mentally and physically, will rise above the rest in March. And that's our goal, to win in March."

Big Time Competition LINUS

SCHEDULING TOUGH OPPONENTS

As always, Illinois faces a challenging non-conference schedule, along with the always rigorous Big Ten grind. The Illini schedule was rated among the Top 5 in the nation last year.

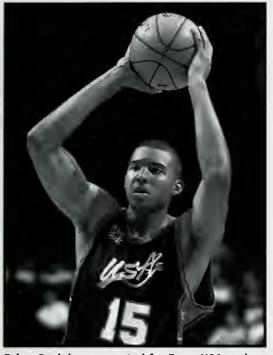

The level of competition will be just as tough this season, with at least 16 games scheduled against NCAA Tournament teams from a year ago. The nonconference slate features the Las Vegas Invitational, which features Illinois, Georgia Tech, Iowa State, St. Louis, Penn, Southern Illinois, Hartford and Eastern Illinois. Other big games include Arizona at the America West Arena in Phoenix, Arkansas at the United Center in Chicago and the annual Braggin' Rights game against Missouri in St. Louis. The Illini also travel to Seton Hall in February.

Illinois also travels to Maryland to take on the Terrapins in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge.

The Big Ten schedule includes at least three ESPN "Super Tuesday" matchups, as well as at least three national appearances on CBS. The Big Ten Tournament is scheduled for March 7-10 at the Conseco Fieldhouse in Indianapolis.

Last season the Illinois regular season schedule included match-ups with 16 NCAA Tournament teams, all four Final Four teams and three games against the two teams that would meet in the national championship game, two against national runner-up Arizona and one against national champion Duke.

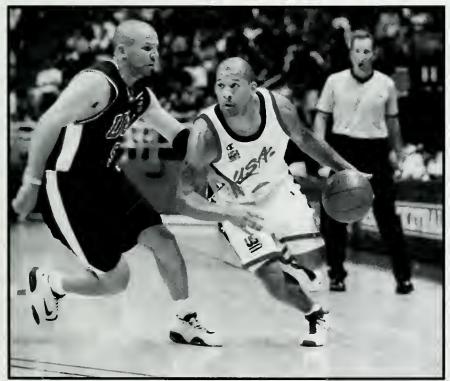

BAS Rig Time Competition

Brian Cook has competed for Team USA each of the past two summers, bringing home the gold from the Young Men-Under-22-Years World Championships this summer.

TEAM USA

Over the last two seasons, two members of this year's Illinois basketball team, Cory Bradford and Brian Cook, competed for USA Basketball. Cook was named a member of the 2000 USA Young Men's World Championship Qualifying Team that took home a silver medal in Brazil last summer, and helped the US to a gold medal at the World Championships for Young Men in Japan this August. Frank Williams was a finalist for the team with Cook before having to withdraw because of injury. Williams and Cook were among only one other pair of collegiate teammates to make the finals.

Cory Bradford helped Jason Kidd and the rest of Team USA prepare for the Sydney 2000 Olympics last summer in Hawaiil.

Bradford played for the United States Select Team in 2000, a group comprised of the nation's top collegiate players who were brought together to help the United States Senior National Team tune up for the Sydney Olympics. Bradford spent one week in Hawaii playing against the NBA's finest. He scored three points and collected three rebounds in 13 minutes of action against the Olympic "Dream Team."

Community Service LLINOIS

RED RIBBON CAMPAIGN

The message from the Illini is to, "Put the Slam on Drugs!" Illini Head Coach Bill Self and the team are honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign, a national week-long effort promoting a drug-free community. In addition to speaking to local elementary and middle school students on the dangers of drugs, Illinois also welcomed several groups of students to their practices. The Fighting Illini are in their fifth year as honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign.

HOMETOWN HEROES

The University of Illinois Hometown Heroes program offers student-athletes the opportunity to speak to young people regarding a variety of messages including goal setting, the importance of getting a good education, staying away from drugs and being a role model. Throughout the year student-athletes from all 19 Illinois' varsity sports have an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of the youth of Urbana-Champaign through the Hometown Heroes program.

Jerrance Howard and Lucas Johnson (center) were two of the several student-athletes who joined members of the Hometown Heroes Kids Club at a football game last season.

Frank Williams showed up before a recent Illini football game to sign autographs for some lucky young fans.

BASK Champaign-Urbana

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA IS KNOWN AS A BASKETBALL TOWN.

IT'S NO WONDER WHY.

After Damir Krupalija publicly commented that he'd do whatever it took, including putting up a billboard, to convince Frank Williams to return for his junior season, a local bank sponsored a billboard asking the All-American point guard to do just that. He did.

WELCOMING HOME THE CHAMPS

Champaign-Urbana turned out in droves to greet the newly-crowned Big Ten Champions at the airport after Illinois clinched a share of the crown with a 67-59 win in Minnesota last March.

PAINT THE HALL ORANGE

After Lucas Johnson challenged the Champaign-Urbana community to take their excitement about Illinois Basketball to another level, a local radio station sponsored 'Paint the Hall Orange' night - a promotion aimed at making the Assembly Hall a Sea of Orange for the showdown against Michigan State. They succeeded so well Cory Bradford commented after the 77-66 win that "The crowd was huge; it was the difference in the ballgame. All night we were just feeding off the orange."

Ubben Basketball Complex U 5

In October 1998, Illinois moved into the state-of-the-art Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex on the campus of the University of Illinois. This $5.5 million dollar facility is a direct result of the university's commitment to excellence in athletics. It houses not only a full-sized practice court, but its features include locker rooms for the coaches and players, a players lounge, video review room, training room and weight room. The 40,000-square-foot facility is home to everything the players need to make it through the day. After classes, players can spend time studying or using the computers in the video room. The locker room has lockers for each player and is adjacent to the players' lounge and video room.

When it's time to get taped before practice, the players just walk across the hall to the fully equipped training room which is located next to the practice court. In the area of strength and conditioning, the players have use of the weight room which has free weights, Nautilus equipment, treadmills and Stairmaster. The team utilizes both the weight room at the football stadium and at the Ubben Complex.

The basketball players enjoy their own lockerroom and lounge in the Ubben Basketball facility.

There are a number of computers available to the basketball players in the video room at Ubben.

BASKET Beampus Life

The college experience for a student-athlete is meant to encompass everything from the educational experience inside the classroom, to the experiences associated with athletics, to the extracurricular activities. It is important to finish college as a well-rounded individual with a variety of experiences and at the University of Illinois the list of opportunities both in and out of the educational realm is endless.

Illinois offers first-rate residence halls with good food, as well as the nation's largest fraternity and sorority system, and independent housing options. Residence halls have 12 computer centers, accessible to residents 24 hours a day. Every University residence hall room has a computer outlet directly connected to the University's "backbone," enabling you to hook up your own computer to do your homework and class projects, and access e-mail and surf the Internet from your room. The Fighting Illini freshmen live in one of 22 residence halls on campus, while the upperclassmen share apartments off campus.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics fields 19 sports teams and student-athletes are very active in supporting all of the teams throughout the year. There is always an opportunity for a sporting event on campus, either on week nights or on weekends. Whether it is volleyball, football, soccer games in the fall, or going to watch the Fighting Illini women's basketball team or tennis team play, the men's basketball players have plenty of opportunity to enjoy watching their fellow student-athletes in action.

The Intramural-Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes on any campus, with four gymnasiums, 23 handball/racquetball courts, weight and exercise equipment, indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and more. The UI has one of the most comprehensive intramural sports programs in the nation.

In addition to hosting the men's and women's basketball teams in action, the Assembly Hall has hosted concerts, circuses, ice shows, and Broadway musicals. Beautifully restored Foellinger Auditorium on the Quad also is home to concerts, films and speakers. The Krannert Center for the Performing Arts holds four theaters for plays, dance, and concerts by famed individuals and groups, such as the Chicago Symphony.

There are approximately 850 registered student organizations at the University of Illinois to meet the individual needs and desires of each student. Quad Day, during the first week of school, offers a chance for students to sample the various activities available to them through the numerous organizations on campus.

If your interests include activities such as movies, bowling, or golf, the Champaign-Urbana area can accommodate you. There are several movie theaters, including a 16-screen theater about five minutes from campus. The U of I Orange and Blue Golf Course is open seven days a week and is also just minutes away from campus.

Additionally, the Champaign-Urbana community offers a large number and variety of restaurant choices. With a population of 110,000 the area houses plenty of shopping opportunities and other big-city amenities while still retaining a Midwestern collegetown atmosphere.

Founded in 1969, the African American Cultural Program provides a support system for students by advising, counseling, and offering programs that have an appeal to the students as well as the entire community. Some of the program efforts include recognition of Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Mom's Day programming and the Black Congratulatory program. The African American Cultural Center is located on the University of Illinois campus and hosts activities on a regular basis. Student workshops revolving around the cultural arts are in place throughout the school year and some are offered for course credit.

The Fighting Illini have landed three of the state's last five Mr. Basketball honorees. Sergio McClain, the 1997 winner, started the trend when he signed with the Illini and teammate Frank Williams, the 1998 winner, followed suit. Brian Cook, the 1999 honoree from Lincoln High School, is the most recent addition to the team. Illinois was the first school to have three of the state's Mr. Basketballs on the roster at the same time.

ORANGE KRUSH

"The votes have all been gathered and counted, and we have tabbed the Orange Krush - the rabid group of orange-shirted Illinois students - for our Fans-of-the-Year award for 2000."

-Rob Meich, CBS Sportsline.com

Orange Krush is a student-run cheering section of dedicated Illini students who love basketball. Krush membership has risen dramatically to well over 500 screaming Illinois students sitting courtside, supporting Head Coach Bill Self and the Illinois men's basketball team. Last season Rob Miech CBS Sportsline.com has this to say about the group: "The votes have all been gathered and counted, and we have tabbed the Orange Krush - the rabid group of orange shirted Illinois students - for our fans-of-the-year award for 2000." When Bill Self was asked about Krush he said, "Krush is truly the sixth man on our team and plays a huge role in giving us the home court advantage." Krush has an even greater impact off the court with the Orange Krush

Foundation. Founded in 1998, the Orange Krush Foundation (formerly Team Krush Foundation) is a University of Illinois student-run Foundation intent on improving the quality of life for the youth and young adults of the Champaign-Urbana and campus community by providing financial support and contributing community service to area not-for-profit organizations.

Since the inception of Orange Krush Foundation three years ago, Krush members have raised over $200,000 while involving hundreds of students and over 6,000 donors from 33 different states, as well as Canada, Europe and Australia. The Orange Krush Foundation is almost entirely studentrun and has donated funds to 24 worthy causes including Crisis Nursery, Habitat for Humanity, Journey and the Reading Group. In addition, the Team Krush Matthew Heldman Memorial Scholarship Fund has been created, which endows a basketball scholarship to honor the late point guard from Illinois' 1997-98 Big Ten Championship Team, who was tragically killed in an automobile accident. One of the most dramatic and dignified traditions in college athletics is the performance of Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois. Since 1926, this symbol has stirred pride and respect in audiences at Memorial Stadium, the Assembly Hall and Huff Hall.

Illiniwek (pronounced "ill-EYE-nih-wek") was the name of the loose confederation of Algonquin tribes that once lived in the region. The French changed the ending to "ois" in naming what became the state of Illinois. Illiniwek means "they are men" and former Illinois football coach Robert Zuppke is believed to have suggested calling the UI symbol Chief Illiniwek.

In 1926, Assistant Band Director Ray Dvorak conceived the idea of performing an American Indian dance during halftime of the Illinois vs. Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia. Lester Leutwiler, a student interested in Indian lore, was chosen for the role. Leutwiler's performance, done in a homemade costume, was received so well that he was asked to continue his dance through the 1928 season.

Webber Borchers, the second Chief Illiniwek, was the first to appear in authentic American Indian regalia. He initiated a campaign to raise money to replace his homemade outfit with an authentic one, but with the Depression on, he received just $15 dollars. However, a Champaign merchant stepped in to fund the rest and Borchers was off.

He recalled: "In the summer of 1930, I went, at my own expense, to the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota. I hitchhiked out, called an Indian agent and explained my mission. He and an Indian trader called in an older Sioux woman. She and two younger women made the suit."

On Nov. 8, 1930, in New York's Yankee Stadium, Illinois faced Army in the seventh game of the season. It was there that Borchers made the first appearance of Chief Illiniwek in that outfit. Since then, five different authentic outfits have been used by Chief Illiniwek. The one used in performances now was purchased in 1983 from Sioux Chief Frank Fools Crow, and is topped by a headdress of turkey feathers.

This year marks the 75th anniversary of Chief Illiniwek.

University of Illinois LLINOIS

Since its founding in 1867, the University of Illinois ar Urbana-Champaign has earned a reputation of international stature. Its distinguished faculty, outstanding resources, breadth of academic programs and research disciplines, and talented and diverse student body constitute an educational community ideally suited for teaching and research. Located in east central Illinois in the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign (population 110,000), the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is the state's flagship public university.

The University has a fundamental commitment to undergraduate education. More than 26,000 undergraduate students are enrolled in nine undergraduate divisions, which together offer some 4,000 courses in more than 150 fields of study.

The divisions are: the College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences; College of Applied Life Studies; College of Communications; College of Commerce and Business Administration; College of Education; College of Engineering; College of Fine and Applied Arts; College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Institute of Aviation.

Undergraduate admission is highly selective. In a recent freshman class, the average student was in the top 10 percent of his or her high school graduating class and scored in the top 10 percent of those taking the national college entrance examination. Approximately 9,000 graduate and professional students are enrolled in more than 100 disciplines. Many of these programs rank in the top 10 in the country, making Illinois among the nation's top 20 universities that grant doctoral degrees, according to the National Research Council.

WORLD-CLASS FACULTY

Many faculty have been recognized for exceptional scholarship with memberships in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, and the National Academy of Engineering; with the National Medal of Science; as National Science Foundation Young Investigators; and by such organizations as the National Endowment for the Humanities, Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, National Academy of Education, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, At Illinois, research has a home in libraries, laboratories and classrooms, where it provides a real-life context for teaching and learning.

COMPUTING

A leader in supercomputing applications, the University is home of NCSA (National Center for Supercomputing Applications) where Mosaic web browsing software was first developed. Since first released in 1993, Mosaic has spawned exponential growth in the use of the World Wide Web. NCSA staff have also been instrumental in promoting World Wide Web access at the White House and in the city of Chicago. There are 23,000 network connections on campus for studenrs, faculty and staff.

RESEARCH

Students and scholars find the University an ideal place to conduct cross-disciplinary research. The most visible example of the University's commitment to such study is the Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology, where research groups from nearly two dozen disciplines work within and across the following three main research themes: biological intelligence, human-computer intelligent interaction and molecular and electronic nanostructures. The special atmosphere at the Beckman Institute made possible the collaboration between two researchers that led to the invention of a technique to extend by a factor of 50 the life of silicon chips, a development that has caught the interest of the world's major chip manufacturers.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Academic resources on the campus are among the world's finest. The University Library is the third largest academic collection in the nation, housing more than 15.9 million items in the main library and in the more than 40 departmental libraries and units. Only Harvard and Yale have larger collections. The library's computerized cataloging system was the first in the world to serve as the primary access to a large academic library. Users have worldwide access to the collections through the Internet, with more than a million patrons logging on each week.

THE ARTS

A major center for the arts, the campus attracts dozens of nationally and internationally renowned artists each year to its widely acclaimed Krannert Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by alumnus Max Abramovitz, an architect of New York City's Lincoln Center, the facility has four indoor theaters and an outdoor amphitheater. Together, they host more than 300 performances each year. The University also supports three major museums: the Krannert Art Museum and Kinkead Pavilion, the World Heritage Museum and the Museum of Natural History. Other major facilities include the multipurpose Assembly Hall (16,000 seats), which hosts concerts, convocations, theater and sporting events.

BAS Kuniversity of Illinois

PARTNERSHIP ILLINOIS

Also integral to the University's mission is a commitment to partnerships with many sectors of Illinois business and industry. Each year more than 60,000 Illinois residents participate in scores of conferences, institutes, credit and noncredit courses and workshops presented on campus and statewide. University-sponsored programs in both urban and rural areas of the state bring University faculty to the citizens of Illinois to share their expertise in food industries, health, K-12 education, technology transfer and economic development, to name a few.

Cooperative Extension Service offices throughout Illinois serve nearly one million people annually. The Institute for Competitive Manufacturing has succeeded in solving business and manufacturing problems in hundreds of Illinois firms by matching student project teams with businesses in need.

OUR GRADUATES SUCCEED

Freshman retention and overall graduation rates are well above the national averages. Typically, approximately 90 percent of freshmen return for their sophomore year. The graduation rate for students who enter the university on a full-time basis is approximately 80 percent. The national average for four-year schools is approximately 50 percent. Each year, more than 400 graduates are accepted to law school. Medical school admissions are also impressive with more than 200 students admitted each year.

Illinois' most recent graduates wait in long lines to have their picture taken at the Alma Mater on Graduation Day.

-Ron Guenther

On June 9, 2000, Illinois tabbed Bill Self as the 15th head coach of the Fighting Illini basketball program. In doing so, UI Athletics Director Ron Guenther hired perhaps the hottest young coach in the nation.

Self became just the sixth head coach in Big Ten history to win a league title in his first season when the Illini shared the 2000-01 title with Michigan State. The Illini won 27 games in his first season, the second-winningest season in school history. With NCAA Tournament wins over Northwestern State, Charlotte and Kansas, Self led Illinois to the program's first Elite Eight appearance since 1989. He became the first coach in NCAA Tournament history to lead two different schools to the Elite Eight in successive seasons.

Self led the Illini to a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament and a final ranking of No. 4 in the Associated Press poll and No. 6 in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches poll. He finished fourth in voting for the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

In his eight seasons as a head coach, Self has built a reputation as one of the nation's finest young coaches. He coached at Tulsa from 1998 to 2000, where he led the Golden Hurricane to the NCAA Tournament in 1999 and 2000, including a 32-5 record and Elite Eight appearance in 2000, setting a school record for victories in a season.

Self begins his second year at Illinois with a 156-89 (.637) mark following four seasons at Oral Roberts (55-54) and three at Tulsa (74-27). He replaced Lon Kruger, who left Illinois after being named head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks in May of 2000.

During the 2000 NCAA Tournament run, the Golden Hurricane defeated UNLV, Cincinnati and Miami before narrowly losing to North Carolina in the regional final. The Hurricane completed the season ranked ninth in the USA Today/ESPN Coaches poll and 18th in the Associated Press poll.

Tulsa was the first team to reach the 20- and 25-win plateau for the 2000 season, and its 32 wins tied Iowa State and national-champion Michigan State for most wins. The Hurricane won a second straight regular-season Western Athletic Conference (WAC) title in 2000 after posting a 12-2 league record.

In the 2000 campaign, Self was named the Don Haskins WAC Coach of the Year, as voted by the league's coaches, was selected as the John and Nellie Wooden Coach of the Year as presented by the Utah Tipoff Club and named The Sporting News National Coach of the Year. He also was picked as one of 15 candidates for the Naismith College Coach of the Year Award, which is selected annually by the Atlanta Tipoff Club.

At age 38, Self has 16 years of Division I coaching experience. He has been a part of 10 teams that advanced to postseason competition, including seven trips to the NCAA Tournament and three appearances in the National Invitation Tournament (NIT).

Self's tenure at ORU, his first as a head coach at any level, was one in which he resurrected the Golden Eagles program. Before taking over the reigns, ORU had compiled the worst record in the program's history with a 5-22 mark in 1992-93. Although Self's first ORU team managed just six victories in 1993-94, the win total increased to 10 the following year. In his third season at the helm, Self guided the Golden Eagles to an 18-9 record. In 1996-97, ORU registered a 22-6 mark and made the school's first postseason tournament appearance since 1983-84, receiving an invitation to the NIT.

Prior to his appointment at ORU, Self spent seven seasons as an assistant coach at Oklahoma State University. He originally joined the Cowboys staff for the 1986-87 season and spent the next four years working under then-OSU head coach Leonard Hamilton (former head coach of the NBA's Washington Wizards). In the three seasons prior to arriving at ORU, Self served as an assistant on Eddie Sutton's staff at Oklahoma State.

During Self's seven seasons with the Cowboys, the team advanced to postseason play a total of five times, including three trips to the NCAA Tournament (1991-93) and two straight appearances in the National Invitational Tournament (1989-90). OSU posted a cumulative 128-88 record during his tenure, including a mark of 72-25 (.742) in his final three seasons.

Beginning his fifth season at Illinois, Jeff Guin serves as the administrative assistant for the Fighting Illini basketball program. He coordinates the Illini video exchange and assists in scouting opponents. Guin also assists with the Illini summer basketball camps.

Prior to beginning his career at Illinois in August 1997, Guin served as a student manager for the Gators under Lon Kruger and Billy Donovan, including the 1994 run to the Final Four. He stayed at Florida for one year under Donovan after Kruger came to the University of Illinois in March 1996.

Sports Medicine NG STAFF

When it comes to sports medicine, the University of Illinois has the finest in medical personnel to keep the Fighting Illini basketball players healthy and on the court. The sports medicine staff's No. 1 goal is the prevention of injuries, but in the unfortunate event of an injury the staff works diligently to get the athlete back into playing condition as quickly as possible.

Rod Cardinal, one of the best in his field, has been a long-time member of the training staff at the University of Illinois. He is in his 29th year working with men's basketball after being appointed assistant athletic trainer at the University in July 1973.

Besides his responsibilities in athletic training, Cardinal holds the important job of travel manager for the Illini, which covers everything from booking charter service to hotel rooms to planning menus for meals on the road.

Prior to his appointment at Illinois, he served in a similar capacity at the U.S. Military Academy.

A native of Blaine, Minn., Cardinal graduated from Southwest State University (Minn.) in 1971 with a B.S. in health and physical education. He was a student trainer in high school, and in college for three years prior to his West Point position. He also played varsity basketball in college.

The Sports Medicine Staff: Dr. Stephen Soboroff, Rod Cardinal and Dr. Robert Gurtler.

Cardinal earned a master's degree in 1977 from Illinois in physical education and sports medicine with an additional emphasis in educational administration. He received the Alumni Achievement Award from Southwest State University in 1995.

Cardinal, along with his wife, Mary, have three grown children and reside in Tolono. Their youngest son, Brian, currently is a member of the NBA's Detroit Pistons.

The sports medicine team would not be complete without the team physicians, who tend to the medical needs of the student-athletes. Dr. Stephen Soboroff is the head team physician and Dr. Robert Gurtler is the team orthopedic surgeon.

Soboroff has served in this capacity for the University of Illinois since 1983. He directs the drug-education and drug-testing programs, and provides consultations to the athletic training staff. He received his M.D. from the UI College of Medicine in Chicago in 1969, and is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine. Soboroff serves on the University of Illinois faculty in the School of Medicine and the Department of Kinesiology.

Gurtler also has been on the team's medical staff since 1983. He is responsible for treating orthopedic injuries to athletes in varsity sports. In addition to his duties with the U of I, Gurtler has a private practice at Carle Hospital, focusing primarily on sports-related injuries.

Richmond Endowme

Richmonds Endow Basketball Coach's Position

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has been close in many respects to Jack Richmond all his life.

The Champaign resident, U of I graduate, retired businessman, and longtime benefactor to his alma mater again strengthened his ties to the U of I. A lifelong Fighting Illini fan, Jack C. Richmond and his wife, Marge, significantly increased their previous seven-figure commitment to the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics by endowing the salary of the men's basketball head coach position with a gift of $2 million.

"The Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach" is the latest on a long list of generous support from the Richmond family. Jack, whose ancestors helped settle Champaign County, recalled his parents, Arthur Dean and Mildred Richmond, contributed to the U of I for the construction of Memorial Stadium. Seven-year-old Jack was on hand for the dedication of Memorial Stadium on Oct. 18, 1924, a day forever highlighted by Red Grange's five touchdowns during an Illinois romp over top-ranked Michigan. Jack was hooked on Fighting Illini sports.

But before Jack could attend his beloved University of Illinois, he learned a few lessons in life. The Richmonds were devastated by the Great Depression, losing their significant holdings of farmland and other assets. The dramatic change in lifestyle had a profound effect on Jack.

It also made him further appreciate the University of Illinois.

His years at the U of I were greatly satisfying. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity and was active in sports. As a freshman gymnast who earned his numerals with the U of I team, Jack said he broke his sternum following a dismount from the flying rings. No longer able to compete as a gymnast, he focused his attention on weight training. At that point, weights weren't popular and were nonexistent at the U of I.

"I always thought that weight training, if done properly, would help athletes. Nobody believed me," he said.

Still, he convinced Seward Staley, director of the U of 1 School of Physical Education, to purchase a set of Olympic weights. A small but dedicated weight lifting team was formed, and the sport spread to first to the intramural level and then was adopted by the physical education department as a P.E. course.

Today, the benefits of weight training are widely recognized and top-notch equipment is readily available across campus. Jack smiles and says, "I feel like I was 60 years ahead of my time.'

And those muscles paid off for Jack, who was a railroad worker, wrecking crew member, meat truck driver, corn detassler, lifeguard, bouncer and even a model for the U of I art school to pay for his education. He graduated in 1943 with a bachelor's degree in agriculture. He followed up his four years of ROTC at the U of I with a tour in the Army. Then he put his degree to work when he joined the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil

Conservation

Service as a county farm planner, opening district offices in Macon County and Clark

Later, Jack was recruited by a former member of the U of I gymnastics team as a salesman for Marchant Calculators. His capacity to sell was exceptional, and he soon had clients from area grain elevator operators to the U of I. He remained with Marchant, which was acquired by Smith Corona and became known as SCM Corp., until 1972. Then he was ready to embark on a new course—the stock market.

He had dabbled in the market since 1955, but by the early 1970s he had the time and resources to become more active in the stock market. He enjoyed success in this realm as well, and was more than willing to share. A donor since 1965, his generosity to the U of I increased significantly over the years. Jack and his mother became members of the Presidents Council in 1976 and Marge became a member in 1990. The Richmonds are lifetime members of the Alumni Association as well.

Thanks to $2 million from the estate of Mildred and from Jack and Marjorie Laird Richmond, the U of I constructed the Richmond Journalism Teaching Studio, adjacent to and affiliated with Campbell Hall for Public Telecommunication, the new

> WILL broadcasting facility at UIUC. The Richmond Studio honors Jack, Marge, and the memory of Arthur Dean and Mildred Hummel Richmond.

Always interested in athletics at the U of I, Jack and Mildred Richmond had made a $1 million commitment to the Athletic Department in 1981. He ber of the I Man's Association and has been a member and > the Illini Ouarterback Club since 1955. He also joined the Rebounders Club shortly after former head coach Lou former president of

an honorary mem-

Henson founded it. Jack is also a life member of the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund.

Now the Richmond name will also be forever associated with athletics at the U of I through the endowment of the men's basketball head coach position.

He said he hopes his gift ensures success for the Fighting Illini basketball program for future generations through the Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach.

For lifelong Illini fan and generous supporter Jack Richmond, it just doesn't get any better.

2001-02 Outlook

If year one of the Bill Self era is any indication, the future of Illinois basketball is in good hands. In Self's first year as the UI head coach, the Illini won a Big Ten Championship, earned a number one seed in the NCAA Tournament and advanced to the Elite Eight. The team won 27 games, the second-highest total in school history and went a perfect 12-0 at the Assembly Hall, marking the first undefeated home season in 11 years. With three starters and nine letterwinners back from the memorable 2000-01 campaign, high expectations exist once again in Champaign.

"Expectations will be high, but I don't know if they'll be more than what they were last year," Self said. "Last year's team did far more than any team has done at Illinois since the '89 season. Certainly, we know there will be high expectations but realistically, we know that we lost two good players in Marcus Griffin and Sergio McClain, plus a lot of intangibles. So, we've got to have guys step up and play different roles than what they had last year, and their production will probably be more needed than what it was last year. If all the pieces are able to improve at the rate we believe they can, then this team should be very good again."

The Illini played one of the nation's toughest schedules last season and it will be more of the same this year as match-ups with national runner-up Arizona and Final Four participant Maryland highlight the non-conference schedule. UI also will take on 2001 NCAA Tournament teams Missouri, Georgia Tech, Arkansas, Gonzaga and Eastern Illinois during the non-conference. Factoring in the Big Ten schedule as well, the Illini will play at least 16 games against teams that made the NCAA Tournament last season.

"Last year we played a monster schedule, and this year it's no different," Self said. "We have a veteran team returning and I feel like this schedule will force us to be very good early in the season and will accelerate our progress."

Four players will don the Orange and Blue for the first time as Self welcomes true freshmen Luther Head and Roger Powell and junior college transfer Blandon Ferguson, along with redshirt freshman Nick Smith. After spending a year practicing with the team, Smith will provide depth in the post for the Illini. Ferguson is a muscular wing player who earned third-team NJCAA All-America honors at the College of Southern Idaho. Head and Powell earned first-team All-State honors at Chicago Manley and Joliet Township, respectively, and give the Illini quickness and athleticism on the perimeter.

Cory Bradford

"We have four newcomers who I feel are going to help us quite a bit this season," Self said. "Nick is a guy that has improved tremendously in the weight room and has increased his strength. We'll count on him to give us minutes inside. Blandon reminds me a lot of Sergio. He's a jack-of-all-trades type player who I think will be a defensive stopper for us. Our true freshmen, Luther and Roger, bring a different look to the table in that they are tremendous athletes. As with any freshman, I'm not quite sure yet how their roles will be defined. But, they will definitely contribute and both guys are going to be really good players here at the University of Illinois."

Leading the way for the Illini this season will be its experienced backcourt of junior Frank Williams and senior Cory Bradford. The UI boasts one of the nation's premier guard tandems with national playerof-the-year candidate Williams directing the point and the sharp-shooting Bradford at shooting guard.

"I would say that our leadership will stem from what Frank and Cory bring to the table, because those are the two guys that can get anybody to follow them," Self said. "Of course we want our guys to be self-starters and be leaders in their own right, but those two hold the keys to the leadership on this team."

Williams, the reigning Big Ten Player of the Year, was Illinois' leading scorer last year at 14.9 points per game while also leading the team in assists, steals, free throw shooting, and minutes. Williams earned a reputation for being a clutch player, scoring 19.7 points against Top 25 competition and by scoring in double figures in the second half of 12 games. He was named a third-team All-America by the Associated Press and is one of four returning players from the Silver Anniversary Wooden Award All-America Team.

Bradford, a three-time all-conference selection, has started every game of his career and enters his final season with a school record streak of 99 consecutive starts. He currently ranks 14th on the UI career scoring list and is the school's all-time leading threepoint shooter.

The other veteran Illini guard is junior Sean Harrington. Harrington led the Big Ten in three-point field goal percentage last season at 46 percent and regularly rotated into the Illini backcourt, earning the most playing time of any non-starter.

"You've got to have good guard play and I think the majority of the responsibility will fall on those three players," Self said. "It starts with our veterans, and then we have some good depth with

2001-02 Outlook I G I L L I N I

Luther, Jerrance Howard and Brett Melton in addition to those three."

Self indicated that he expects this year's lineup to consist of three guards and two big men, with the third guard being a swing player. Senior Lucas Johnson was a key contributor off the bench last season and has previous starting experience. Vying for time at the third guard position along with Johnson will be Ferguson and Powell.

Highlighting the frontcourt is All-Big Ten selection Brian Cook. The junior is one of the nation's most versatile big men, having shown the ability to score both inside and outside, in addition to rebound and block shots. Cook, who has spent the past two summers playing internationally with USA Basketball, was Illinois' third leading scorer last season at 11.2 points per game and was the leading rebounder, averaging 6.1 rebounds.

Senior Robert Archibald flourished last season as a reserve, averaging 7.2 points and 4.5 rebounds in 15 minutes of action per game. Archibald finished the season in impressive fashion, scoring a career-high 25 points in the Elite Eight versus Arizona, earning All-Midwest Region honors.

After battling injuries during half of last season, senior Damir Krupalija is healthy once again. Krupalija played in 27 games last season, shooting 60 percent from the floor and averaging nearly five points and four rebounds per game.

Given the amount of returning experience and the solid blend of newcomers to the program, Self will have plenty of lineup options to consider as Illinois looks to successfully defend its Big Ten title and make another run in the NCAA Tournament.

Brian Cook

"I think we'll have a deep bench," Self said. "I can see this team going nine deep, but I don't know if it will be equal minutes nine deep like it was last year. When you look at the roster, you could make a pretty good case for each guy. But all of them can't play, so I think it will be a little different this year in that the top nine could vary from week to week, depending on scouting reports, how guys are performing and improving. What I can say with certainty is that we're going to play the guys who will give this team the best chance to win."

2000-01 in Review REVIEW

The Bill Self Era of Illinois Basketball opened with a bang in 2000-01 - a Big Ten co-championship, No. 1 seeds in the Big Ten and NCAA Tournaments, an Elite Eight appearance in the NCAA Tourney, and the second-most wins in school history.

A non-conference schedule rated among the toughest in the nation gave Self and his squad an idea early on about the potential of the team.

After opening the season with a victory over the Maine Bears, Illinois traveled to face several top teams in the Maui Invitational. A victory over UNLV led to a showdown with eventual Final Four participant Maryland in the semifinals. Illinois dominated the boards by a 55-27 advantage en route to a 90-80 victory. The championship game was the first of three meetings between eventual national runner-up Arizona with the topranked Wildcats holding on for a 79-76 win over the Illini. Frank Williams and Marcus Griffin were both named to the all-tournament team.

Less than a aweek later, Illinois faced its second top-ranked squad of the young season in a 78-77 loss to eventual national champion Duke at the Big Ten / ACC Challenge in Greensboro, N.C.

Two wins later and the Illini embarked on perhaps the toughest stretch of the year. Illinois overcame a 21-point deficit in beating No. 7 Seton Hall at the Assembly Hall, took some revenge on Arizona with an 81-73 win at the United Center in Chicago, won the annual Braggin' Rights game against Missouri in St. Louis before running out of gas in an eight-point loss at Texas.

Illinois opened Big Ten play with six wins in its first seven games including wins over Minnesota, Ohio State, Michigan (twice), Northwestern and Penn State. In possibly its toughest five-game stretch of the conference schedule, Illinois defeated Michigan State in one of the most-anticipated games in Assembly Hall history, won at Purdue, beat Wisconsin and won at Indiana before losing by two points at Ohio State. Victories over Iowa and Minnesota to end the regular season gave Illinois its second Big Ten title in four years, and the No. 1 seed heading into the Big Ten Tournament.

After the Illini posted an impressive 83-66 victory over Purdue, the Indiana Hoosiers pulled the upset over Illinois in the semifinals. Heartbreak would last just one day, however, as the Fighting Illini earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament.

During the first weekend, Illinois defeated Northwestern State and Charlotte to earn a Sweet Sixteen berth for the first time since 1989.

At the Midwest Regional in San Antonio, Illinois opened with an impressive 80-64 victory over Kansas behind a career-high 30 points by Williams. Two days later, the Illini season ended following the third meeting with Arizona. The Wildcats advanced to the Final Four after an 87-81 victory over the Illini.

Illinois' 27 victories for the season were the second-most in school history. Self became just the sixth coach in Big Ten history to win a league title in his first season, the 14th Big Ten championship in school history. Williams became the first Illini player to earn Big Ten Most Valuable Player honors since 1967.

#8 ILLINOIS MAINE

Nov. 17, 2000 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Practice? Who needs practice? After sitting out of drills for a week with a bruised elbow, Sergio McClain came off the bench to score 16 points and grab nine rebounds as No. 8 Illinois opened the season with an 86-57 victory over Maine.

McClain said he wanted to inaugurate new coach Bill Self with a victory at Assembly Hall, and make a good impression. He did both. The Illini gave Self his first win at Illinois with dominating play inside and feisty defense, trademarks of his successful teams at Tulsa.

successful teams at Tulsa.

Illini center Marcus Griffin added 15 points as the Illini pounded the ball inside. The Black Bears shot 35 percent and committed 27 turnovers for the game.

McClain scored six points during a 19-5 run that ended with the Illini ahead 45-23. The Illini led 46-29 at the half and did not change the plan. Short jumpers, layups and tipins helped the Illini outscore the Bears 16-6 to start the second half.

Maine got 18 points and 10 points from Huggy Dye, whose performance came in a homecoming of sorts. Dye played high school basketball in nearby Danville. Julian Dunkley added 14 points for Maine.

Self was happy with the defense and his starting backcourt of Cory Bradford and Frank Williams playing turnover-free ball. Bradford added 11 points and Brian Cook had 10 for Illinois.

"I was pretty nervous," Self said. "But the first one you always remember."

GAME #2

#8 Illinois UNLV

74 69

Nov. 20, 2000

Lahaina Civic Center, Lahaina, Hawaii

Illinois' second game under coach Bill Self was one that might be really big as the season wears on.

Frank Williams scored 22 points and the eighth-ranked Illini beat UNIV 74-69 in the opening round of the Maui Invitational.

The Illini advanced to Tuesday's semifinals to play No. 6 Maryland, which beat Louisville 95-73 in the first round.

Self didn't have a very good start in the second game at his new school. UNLV (1-1) had a 28-14 lead in the first half by making five of its first seven shots from 3-point range.

Illinois (2-0) used runs of 9-0 and 11-0 to get back in the game, and it was tied at 36 at halftime.

The Illini took advantage of UNLV's lack of depth and foul trouble - four Runnin' Rebels fouled out - to take command.

Williams' jumper with 9:11 left gave Illinois the lead for good at 56-54. He hit the game's biggest shot, a driving jumper with the shot clock expiring that gave the Illini a 68-59 lead. He then made four free throws for a 72-62 lead with 48 seconds left.

Williams also had six assists and five steals. Marcus Griffin had 15 points for Illinois, while Brian Cook had 12 points and 14 rebounds.

Jermaine Lewis had 19 points for UNLV, while Trevor Diggs added 18, all but three on 3-pointers.

The Runnin' Rebels finished 12-for-23 from beyond the arc, while Illinois was just 2-for-9.

UNIV center Kaspars Kambala had 14 points and seven turnovers before being of the players to foul out.

Nov. 21, 2000

Marcus Griffin had all but two of his 19 points in the second half and Illinois' front line dominated Maryland's as the No. 8 Fighting Illini beat the sixth-ranked Terrapins 90-80 in the semifinals of the Maui Invitational.

Illinois (3-0) advanced to Wednesday's championship game against Arizona.

Sophomore guard Frank Williams added 21 points for Illinois, which prevailed in the season's first marchup between Top 10 teams.

Illinois took control up front as sophomore Brian Cook had 11 points and nine rebounds and senior Sergio McClain had 10 points and 10 rebounds. Griffin, who was 9-for-14 from the field, had eight rebounds as Illinois finished with a 55-37 advantage on the boards.

Lonny Baxter had 17 points for Maryland and Terence Morris added 13, but neither was able to get anything going against Griffin, Cook and McClain.

Griffin scored on an offensive rebound and on a move down low to key an 11-2 run that gave the Illini a 66-54 lead with 9:26 to play.

After a 3-pointer by Morris, Griffin scored on a rebound dunk and a layup to make it 70-57 with 7:56 left. Maryland wasn't able to get closer than seven points the rest of the way.

Maryland finished 28-for-64 from the field (43.8 percent), far off the 61 percent it shot in the opening round.

Nov. 22, 2000

Lahaina Civic Center, Lahaina, Hawaii

Top-ranked Arizona held off No. 8 Illinois 79-76 in the title game of the Maui Invitational..

Playing without preseason All-America center Loten Woods, who was suspended for six games for NCAA rules vio-lations, Arizona (3-0) beat Illinois (3-1), handing the Illini its first loss under coach Bill Self.

Illinois, which trailed by 15 points with 3 1/2 minutes to play, used a last-minute 3-point blitz to pull to 77-76 with 15 seconds remaining.

Jason Gardner made two free throws with 11 seconds left give Arizona a 79-76 lead, Illinois had two last chances.

First, Cory Bradford's 3-point attempt from the corner was blocked by Luke Walton and went out of bounds with 1.2

Sergio McClain then tried to inbound the ball but Gilbert Arenas knocked it into the air and the buzzer sounded.

Gardner scored 18 of his 25 points in the first half to lead the Wildcats, while Richard Jefferson added 18 and tournament MVP Michael Wright had 16 points and nine rebounds.

Frank Williams had 27 points, including eight in the final minute, for Illinois, while the front line of Marcus Griffin, Brian Cook and McClain combined for just 14 points and 15 rebounds.

Arizona used an 8-0 run to take a 49-40 lead with 14:54 to play. Illinois got back within 55-50 with 8:57 left on two free throws by Griffin. Arenas sandwiched layups around a 3pointer by Jefferson to make it 62-50 with 7:35 left and the Wildcats led by as many as 15 points before Williams led the final surge. He and Sean Harrington combined for three 3s in a 9-1 run that brought Illinois within 75-74 with 25 secs. left.

#8 Illinois Texas Southern

86 67

Nov. 26, 2000 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Reserve Sean Harrington made all five of his 3-point shots and scored a career-high 17 as Illinois beat Texas Southern 86-

Harrington sank three straight 3-pointers midway through the second half to give Illinois an insurmountable 30-point

Illinois (4-1) got solid contributions from most of its regulars, too, including 16 points and eight rebounds from center Marcus Griffin.

Illinois used a 13-0 run to move ahead 18-6, but Chris Miller's shooting kept Texas Southern (0-3) in the game.

Miller's fourth 3-pointer got the Tigers within 20-16 with 10:29 left in the half. That was the closest they got.

Griffin and Robert Archibald combined for 13 points in the paint as Illinois closed the half with a 19-6 run for a 49-29

The Illini stretched the lead to 70-40 with 11 minutes left on Harrington's hot shooting. The Tigers didn't let them pile

Miller stopped getting open 3-point chances, so the Tigers tried to go inside when Illinois switched to a smaller lineup.

Texas Southern hit 11 free throws during a 23-8 run to draw within 78-63 with 4:11 remaining.

Miller finished with 18 points and seven rebounds for Texas Southern. Ricky Bennett added 13 points and Steve Hover 11.

But the Tigers shot just 34 percent from the field and managed just seven assists against the Illini defense that has kept every opponent under 45 percent shooting from the field.

#9 Illinois #1 Duke

77 78

Nov. 28, 2000

Greensboro Coliseum, Greensboro, N.C.

Turnovers were the deciding factor as No. 9 Illinois lost to undefeated and No.1 Duke (6-0) 78-77 in the marquee matchup in the ACC-Big Ten Challenge.

While the Illini held All-American Shane Battier in check, allowing him just 11 points and 5 rebounds in 39 minutes, Duke's Jason Williams (23 points) and Mike Dunleavy (21 points) matched career highs for the Blue Devils.

Frank Williams led Illinois (4-2) with 19 points and Marcus Griffin was a factor in the paint with 16. But Illinois was plagued by a season-high 26 turnovers, overshadowing their tremendous work on the boards, outrebounding Duke 42-27 for the game. Sergio McClain led the assault on the glass with 11 rebounds and Griffin added nine.

Duke built up a 77-68 with under three minutes left when the Illini made a late rally. Trailing 78-74, Williams was fouled on a three point attempt with 3.5 seconds left. He made the first two to make it a two point game and attempted to miss the third one to give the Illini a chance at an offensive rebound basket. However his final free throw banked in, and Illinois was forced to foul with 0.8 showing on the clock. After missing the first, Duke missed the second free throw inentionally to prevent Illinois from inbounding the ball. Lucas Johnson grabbed the miss and fired a full-length shot that missed as time expired.

GAME #7

#9 Illinois 76 Kansas State 56

Dec. 2, 2000 Bramlage Coliseum, Manhattan, Kan.

Illinois coach Bill Self never convinced his team that Kansas State would be as dangerous as the two top-ranked teams the Illini faced earlier this season. Still, the No. 9 Illini had little trouble with the unranked Wildcats on Saturday, beating them 76-56.

The Illini set the pace early and never trailed in the game. Illinois continually pound the ball inside and Marcus Griffin responded with season highs of 20 points and 10 rebounds to lead the charge. Sergio McClain had 12 points for Illinois and Cory Bradford added 10.

The made four straight 3-pointers to take a 24-8 lead with 11:44 to go in the first half. But Kansas State (2-2) went on a 8-0 run in the first half to cut the lead down to nine when Travis Reynolds slam-dunked an alley-oop pass.

Reynolds had 15 points for the Wildcats and Kelvin Howell added 13.

Kansas State cut the lead to nine again in the second half on Phineas Atchison's jumper with 9:37 to go before the Wildcats got into foul trouble as Terry Richie fouled out.

Robert Archibald made a layup and two free throws within 46 seconds to stave off Kansas State's rally. Illinois then went on a 10-2 run and Lucas Johnson hit a 3-pointer with 2:17 to go to put the game out of reach.

Illinois held the Wildcats to 34 percent shooting and forced 19 turnovers.

GAME #8

#9 Illinois 85 Wisconsin-Milwaukee 44

Dec. 6, 2000 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Brian Cook scored a season-high 17 points and No. 9 Illinois held Wisconsin-Milwaukee to 22 percent shooting in an 85-44 rout Wednesday night.

The 41-point margin was the biggest for Illinois (6-2) since beating Bethune-Cookman by 50 on Dec. 28, 1999.

It was the worst shooting performance ever by a visiting team in Assembly Hall. The Panthers also missed nine of 20 free throws and had more three-point field goals (7) than two-point field goals (6).

Cook, who had struggled to score this season, and Cory Bradford, who added 13 points, repeatedly drove into the crowded lane and overpowered the smaller Panthers (5-3). Frank Williams and Sean Harrington each scored 11 for the Illiai.

Illinois' stingy defense forced Wisconsin-Milwaukee into bad shot after bad shot all night. The Panthers scored only 18 points in the first half.

The Panthers' last lead was 8-7, about seven minutes into the game, but the Illini outscored them 30-10 the rest of the Illinois outscored the Panthers 27-10 to open the second half for a 64-28 lead with 10:50 left. From there, Illinois coach Bill Self went deep into his bench.

Wisconsin-Milwaukee got 16 points from Clay Tucker and 10 from Dan Weisse. James Wright had eight rebounds.

GAME #9

#9 Illinois #7 Seton Hall

87 79

Dec. 9, 2000 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Cory Bradford was in a weird spot.

For the last five minutes of a doglight against No. 7 Seton Hall, Illinois' star shooter was on the bench trying to figure out where and when he'd lost his shot. It didn't take him long to find it.

No. 9 Illinois battled Seton Hall to a tie without Bradford, who then scored eight points in overtime as the Illini won 87-79. Bradford, who shot 2-for-12 and failed to make a 3-pointer in regulation, made two in overtime to tie former Virginia Tech player Wally Lancaster's NCAA record of 73 straight games with at least one 3-pointer.

Illinois (7-2) rallied from a 21-point deficit late in the first half to force the overtime on the way to its second win this season over a higher-ranked opponent. Marcus Griffin led Illinois with 24 points and 13 rebounds.

Darius Lane led Seton Hall (5-1) with 31, and Eddie Griffin added 20 points and 10 rebounds.

Illinois had trailed by 21 late in the first half, thwatted by Seton Hall's defense and 18 first-half points by Lane. The Illini missed all 10 of their 3-point shots in the first half and trailed 42-25.

The teams traded leads several times before Williams drove the lane, switched hands and banked one off the backboard to give Illinois a 68-66 lead with 40 seconds left. Morton made two free throws and Illinois tried to run time off the clock to get the last shot, but McClain missed a 3-pointer from the left wing. The ball bounced off a Seton Hall player out of bounds with 1.7 seconds left.

The inbound pass went to Marcus Griffin, who missed a jumper in the paint as the buzzer sounded ending regulation.

GAME #10

#5 Illinois #7 Arizona 81 73

Dec. 16, 2000 United Center, Chicago, Ill.

From the moment the first Arizona player went crashing to the floor, it was clear this was going to be No. 5 Illinois' game. Cory Bradford set an NCAA record with a 3-pointer in his 74th consecutive game, and the Illini beat up on Arizona (No. 6 ESPN/USA Today, No. 7 AP) en route to an 81-73 victory Saturday, avenging their loss in the Maui Invitational title game last month.

The Illini played tough the whole game. Frank Williams went 9-0f-10 from the free throw line in the final 3:27 to seal the game — despite a strained muscle in his right shoulder that hurt so bad his teammates couldn't even pat him on the back.

Just like last month, when Jason Gardner had to make two free throws with 11 seconds left to preserve Arizona's 79-76 victory at Maui, the victory didn't come easy for Illinois. After trailing by as many as nine points in the second half, Arizona (5-3) cur the Illinois lead to 78-73 with 16 seconds left on two free throws by Gardner and a basket by Gilbert Arenas.

But Arenas missed the free throw shot for the three-point play, and he and Gardner both missed 3-point attempts in the final 15 seconds.

The Illini didn't make a field goal after Marcus Griffin's reverse with 3:52 left, but it didn't matter as they went 15-of-20 from the line. Williams accounted for nine of those points.

Bradford finished with 13 points, including two more 3pointers, and all of the Illini starters finished in double figures.

The Illini outrebounded Arizona 42-37, and held the Wildcats to 42 percent (27-of-65) shooting. No Illinois opponent has shot better than 45 percent this season.

GAME #11

#5 Illinois Missouri

86 81

Dec. 21, 2000 Savvis Center, St. Louis, Mo.

Frank Williams got the last basket in regulation and scored six of his 18 points in overtime as No. 5 Illinois beat Missouri 86-81.

GAME #12

#5 Illinois Texas

64 72

Dec. 23, 2000 Erwin Center, Austin, Texas

Darren Kelly scored 21 points and Texas made 11 of 15 free throws over the final three minutes in a 72-64 win over No. 5 Illinois.

No. 5 Illinois.

Maurice Evans had 12 points and Brian Boddicker added
12 as Texas (8-2) won its 18th straight home game.

Brian Cook scored 18 points to lead Illinois (9-3), which was taken to overtime by Missouri the previous game.

The Illini, who never led, rallied from a 12-point deficit in the second half. Cook's three-point play cut Texas' lead to 59-57 with 4:05 to play.

The Illini appeared to have stopped the Longhorns on the other end when Frank Williams forced Kelly into a wild 3-pointer with just five seconds left on the shot clock. But Kelly drew a foul and swished three consecutive free throws to push the Texas lead back up 62-57. After Williams and Cory Bradford threw up a pair of wild 3-pointers on Illinois' next two possessions, Texas freshman James Thomas put back his own missed layup and hit one of two free throws to make it 65-57 with 2:40 left.

Texas gave Illinois a chance to close the gap in the final minute. After Sean Harrington hit three foul shots to pull the Illini within five, Texas turned it over with 22 seconds left when Royal Ivey's errant inbounds pass sailed across the court and out of bounds.

But Marcus Griffin missed two layups in traffic and Bradford's 3-pointer bounced off the rim and over the backboard.

Griffin scored 11 points and Bradford had 10 for Illinois. Bradford stretched his NCAA career record for consecutive games with at least one 3-pointer to 76.

GAME #13

#9 Illinois 77 Illinois-Chicago 64

Dec. 29, 2000 Allstate Arena, Rosemont, Ill.

They'd clanged 3-pointers left and right in a loss at Texas, so it was no surprise that No. 9 Illinois decided to go inside Friday night against Illinois-Chicago.

The Illini dumped the ball into 6-foot-9 Marcus Griffin, who finished with 21 points, and 6-11 Robert Archibald, who had his first career double-double behind career highs of 16 points and 12 rebounds.

Leading by eight points at the half, the Illini went on a 15-6 run after the break and went up by 17 when Sergio McClain tipped in a missed free throw by Archibald. Two free throws by Cook pushed the lead to 20 points with 6:40 left.

Bradford extended his NCAA-record string of games with at least one 3-pointer to 77 with an early jumper from the top of the key as the Illini took a 13-4 lead.

Griffin, with 15 first-half points, was tough for the scrappy Flames (6-6) to contain. He scored 10 straight Illini points, including back-to-back three-point plays as the Illini opened up a 29-19 lead.

Griffin got inside again for a basket on a pass from Williams to build the lead to 12 points, but the Flames responded when Jon-Pierre Mitchom hit a pair of free throws and Jordan Kardos a jumper in the lane to make it 39-31 at the half.

Mitchom led the Flames with 19 points and Kardos had

#9 Illinois 80 64 Minnesota

Ian. 3, 2001 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Marcus Griffin scored a career-high 27 points as No. 9 Illinois beat Minnesota 80-64 in the Big Ten opener for both

After shooting 7-for-45 from 3-point range in its last two games, Illinois pledged to attack the basket against the smaller Gophers and kept that promise as the Illini front line combined for 43 points.

Frank Williams scored all 16 of his points in the second half and Brian Cook added 11 rebounds and six blocks for Dusty Rychart's 21 points led Minnesota.

Griffin and Rychart starred in an otherwise sloppy first half, each scoring 13 points.

Sean Harrington's back-to-back 3-pointers - the only ones Illinois made in the first half - gave the Illini an early 12-5 lead. Despite outrebounding the Gophers 22-12 and blocking seven shots, Illinois could not build on the lead and led just 29-27 at halftime.

But Illinois' shooting heated up after the break. The Illini, which shot 33 percent in the first half, shot 62 percent in the second half.

The Illini shot 4-for-9 from 3-point range in the second half. Cory Bradford hit his first three-point attempt with just 2:22 left in the game, extending his NCAA-record streak of making at least one three-pointer to 78 straight games.

The difference in the game was Griffin, who scored eight points in a 23-8 run at the start of the second half. Griffin added seven rebounds and two blocks.

With a fragile lead disintegrating against Ohio State, Illini point guard Frank Williams scored 16 of his game-high 21 points in the second half as Illinois beat Ohio State 83-68.
Williams played 37 minutes, handing out six assists against one turnover as the Illini broke out of a lingering shooting slump.

Illinois scored eight straight points for a 21-13 lead with 10:30 remaining in the first period. The Buckeyes kept it close, but Williams hit a 3-pointer just before the buzzer to give the Illini a 32-25 halftime lead.

Ohio State opened the second half on a 12-5 run. Sean Connolly tied the game at 37 on a 3-pointer from the corner with 15:44 left.

Cook, repeatedly left alone on the perimeter, twice hit 3pointers as Illinois slowly rebuilt its lead. Cook's second 3pointer gave the Illini a 55-46 lead with 10 minutes left.

Damir Krupalija followed by drawing a charge and then surprising the Buckeyes' defense his own 3-pointer to make it 58-46 with 9:47 to go.

Ohio State never got closer than eight points again. Sean Harrington made a 3-pointer with 3:14 to go that put Illinois ahead 72-57. Brown hit a short jumper for Ohio State but Williams hit another 3-pointer to make it 75-59 with 2:04 remaining.

GAME #16

#7 Illinois Iowa

62 78

Jan. 11, 2001 Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Iowa City, Iowa

Luke Recker scored a season-high 27 points and Dean Oliver added 16 to lead Iowa to a 78-62 win over seventh-ranked Illinois on Thursday night.

Both scored seven points against the Illini in the first half before carrying Iowa in the final 20 minutes.

Ryan Hogan finished with 10 points and Reggie Evans had 15 rebounds for the Hawkeyes (13-2, 2-0 Big Ten), who overcame the Illini's superior size, depth and experience to win their third straight.

Frank Williams finished with 22 points for Illinois (12-4, 2-1) but got little help. Sergio McClain had nine points for the Illini, as did Cory Bradford, who continued his NCAA record shooting streak by hitting at least one 3-pointer in his 80th straight game.

lowa's reserves, who outscored Penn State 30-4 in an 86-85 victory last Saturday, combined for 25 points to seven for Illinois

Except for the first few minutes, the Illini trailed until a 3-point shot by McClain with 15:19 to play gave them a 37-36 edge. The Hawkeyes regained the lead and opened a 51-46 edge on Recker's two free throws before Williams answered with two free throws to cut the lead to 51-48 with 7:48 to play

Rod Thompson swished a 3-pointer from the left corner that ignited a 15-4 run for the Hawkeyes to give them a 66-52 lead with 3:31 remaining.

GAME #17

#7 Illinois Michigan

80 51

Jan. 13, 2001 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Sergio McClain's effort on defense was just as important as his unprecedented stat line. The senior had 11 assists, 11 rebounds and 10 points for the second triple-double in school history as No. 7 Illinois beat Michigan 80-51, despite missing its top two scorers.

More significantly, McClain played tough defense on Michigan's top threat, LaVell Blanchard, who made two field goals in the first half - just one while McClain was on the floor.

Brian Cook scored 17 points, and Cory Bradford added 15 for the Illini. Reserve Damir Krupalija scored 10 to help the Illini recover after their loss to Iowa.

Blanchard scored 15 and Josh Asselin added 10 rebounds and nine points for Michigan, which shot just 27.7 percent for the game. He was one of three Michigan centers to foul out of the game.

The Illini played without leading scorer Frank Williams, who bruised his tailbone and sprained his right ankle against Iowa. Their No. 2 scoring threat, center Marcus Griffin, left the game in the first half with what Self said was a bruised hip or tailbone.

Illinois took a 15-4 lead, and the Wolverines managed just five field goals in the first half. Michigan turned the ball ovet 14 times in the half against two assists.

Michigan kept it close until the final 1:30 of the period, when Krupalija came off the bench to score five points to help Illinois to a 38-23 halftime lead. Krupalija opened the second half with a 3-pointer and Bradford added a long jumper for a 43-23 Illinois lead. Michigan never again got closer than 16 points.

GAME #18

#11 Illinois Northwestern

63 49

Jan. 17, 2001 Welsh-Ryan Arena, Evanston, Ill.

Brian Cook scored the last eight points in a 13-2 second-half run and Illinois overcame the loss of injured center Marcus Griffin to finally pull away and beat Northwestern 63-49.

Northwestern, suffering its 27th straight regular-season loss in the Big Ten, trailed 44-43 with 10:39 left after Aaron Jennings scored consecutive baskets for the Wildcats.

Robert Archibald, starting in place of Griffin, hit an inside basket and then converted a three-point play for a six-point lead.

Then it was Cook's turn. He muscled in a basket on the second rry, picked up a loose ball and scored again, followed in another miss and then took a nifty pass from Frank Williams for another basket to cap the decisive run that made it 57-45 with just over four minutes left.

Illinois dominated the boards 42-18 as Cook grabbed 11 rebounds. Williams led the Illini with 16 points and Cook had 10 of his 14 points in the second half.

Cory Bradford started a a 13-0 first-half run for the Illini with a reverse layup and capped it with a 3-pointer as Illinois opened a 10-point lead late in the first half. The surge also included two tough jumpers in traffic by Williams and a dunk and follow by Cook.

The Illini initially had problems with Northwestern's patient pass-and-cut offense but pounded the Wildcats on the boards in the opening half 22-9. Northwestern, despite shooting just 36 percent, still stayed close with its gritty play and trailed 32-25 at halftime.

GAME #23

#7 Illinois #4 Michigan State

67

Feb. 6, 2001 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

After struggling all season to find his shot while playing with a gimpy knee, Cory Bradford scored a season-high 22 points in helping No. 7 Illinois beat the fourth-ranked Spartans 77-66 to take over first place in the Big Ten. Bradford made six threes and the Illini finished with 10 for their first win over the Spartans since 1998.

Illinois also got 14 points from Frank Williams and 12 from Brian Cook. Jason Richardson led MSU with 19 points

Bill Self deemed rebounding a key to the game. Illinois lost at East Lansing last year mostly because it got outrebounded 41-16. On Tuesday, Michigan State's advantage on the boards was just 35-29.

Midway through the first half, Illinois' pressure defense became a factor. Bradford hit a 3-pointer, the Illinois press forced Michigan State into a turnover in the backcourt and Williams hit another 3. That started a 22-8 run that ended with another 3-pointer by Lucas Johnson, giving Illinois a34-27 lead with 1:37 left before Zach Randolph hit two free throws to make it 34-29 at the half.

The second half started much like the first, with Illinois sloppy and MSU taking advantage by scoring the first 10 points to regain a 39-34 lead with 17:14 left.

The Illini began driving inside, and Michigan State's Richardson and Andre Hutson each picked up their third fouls. With those two players on the bench, the Illini began what would be the decisive run. Damir Krupalija made two free throws to give Illinois the lead for good, 51-50 with 9:35 remaining

Bradford followed with another 3-pointer as the Illini went on a 22-9 run that ended with Illinois ahead 73-59 with less than two minutes left. The orange-clad Illinois students began garhering along the sidelines before the final buzzer, and stormed the court afterward

#7 Illinois Purdue

82 61

Feb. 10, 2001 Mackey Arena, West Lafayette, Ind.

Brian Cook scored 17 points and No. 7 Illinois used a 24-7 second-half run to breeze to an 82-61 victory over Purdue on Saturday.

The Illini (19-5, 9-2 Big Ten) ended a nine-game losing streak to Purdue (13-9, 5-6), which played without leading scorer Rodney Smith and leading rebounder and shot-blocker John Allison. Both missed the game with foot injuries

Carson Cunningham, who led the Boilermakers with 25 points, hit a 3-pointer to cut the Illinois lead to 46-41 with 15:30 to go, but Cook followed with a basket and Robert Archibald converted a layup off a Purdue turnover to start the game-clinching run.

Cook hit another 3-pointer that pushed the lead to 55-43, and Cory Bradford's 3-pointer pushed the advantage to 70-48. Illinois was 8-of-18 from 3-point range and 22-of-27 from the free-throw line. Purdue was 8-of-16 from 3-point range. Adam Wetzel, who replaced Allison, and Brett Buscher, who replaced Smith, combined for five points.

The Boilermakers have lost three straight and six of eight since starting 3-0 in the Big Ten. They fell to 2-5 this year against ranked teams and have lost three straight conference games for the first time since the 1992-93 season.

The Illini's largest lead in the first half was 12 points, but Purdue got two 3-pointers from Joe Marshall during a 10-4 run and trailed 36-30 at the half.

GAME #26

#4 Illinois Indiana

67 61

Feb. 17, 2001 Assembly Hall, Bloomington, Ind.

Illinois had too many weapons, too much depth and too much defense for Indiana on Saturday. The Hoosiers couldn't withstand the combination.

Brian Cook scored 16 points, Frank Williams added 14 and the Illini defense stopped the Hoosiers' inside game as it held on for a 67-61 victory. The Illini have won five straight games - the longest streak in Big Ten play this season, and four straight against Indiana.

And once again, the Illini's depth not only wore down an opponent, it flat out beat it. The Illinois bench outscored Indiana's 30-5 and outrebounded it 20-2. Robert Archibald finished with 11 points and eight rebounds, while Lucas Johnson had eight points and Damir Krupalija had six points and seven boards.

Kirk Haston finished with 18 points and Jared Jeffries added 16, but most of Indiana's scoring came from the outside.

After clinging to a 28-27 halftime lead, Illinois seemingly took control after a 6-0 mini-tun when Sean Harrington hit a 3-pointer and Krupalija put in a layup. That gave Illinois a 41-33 lead with 13:56 left. The Hoosiers scored the next four points, but then the Illinois defense stepped up. Illinois proved its point during the next 10 minutes when Indiana managed just one basket and the Illini extended its lead to as much as 61-50 with 2:37 remaining.

Still, the Hoosiers clawed back. Back-to-back three-point plays from Tom Coverdale and Haston got the Hoosiers within 62-56. And after three missed free throws and an errant shot, Kyle Hornsby hit a 3-pointer to make it 65-61 with 32 seconds to go

But the Illinois defense, which permitted only eight second-half baskets, didn't allow the Hoosiers to score again.

#3 Illinois Ohio State

61 63

Feb. 22, 2001

Value City Arena, Columbus, Ohio

Sean Connolly's 3-pointer with 30 seconds left gave Ohio State a 63-61 upset of No. 3 Illinois on Thutsday night that opened up the race for the Big Ten title. The Illini came in on a five-game winning streak and still leads Michigan State by a half-game in the conference.

Brian Brown led Ohio State with 18 points, while Ken Johnson had 16 points and Brent Darby had 14.

Frank Williams scored 22 points and Marcus Griffin had 12 for the Illini, who had won 14 of the last 16 meetings with Ohio State.

With Illinois on top 61-60, Darby was guarded by Sergio McClain in the backcourt. Darby tossed a pass to the left wing where Connolly broke open along the baseline. He turned and hit the 3-pointer to put Ohio State ahead 63-61.

Brian Cook missed a 3-point attempt from the top of the key with nine seconds remaining for Illinois. The Buckeyes' Tim Martin rebounded and was fouled. but missed both free throws.

Williams took the inbound pass and dribbled to just in front of the Illini bench on the left wing. Pressured by three defenders, his shot with one second left was short.

Johnson's slam dunk to open the second half gave Ohio State a 38-29 lead. But Illinois came back with the next 12 points, holding the Buckeyes without a point for more than six minutes. Williams scored the first three baskets and assisted on two others in the surge, while Ohio State missed eight consecutive shots.

Boban Savovic hit a 3-pointer and a free throw to put the Buckeyes up 60-56 with 3:44 to play.

Williams then converted a three-point play, and after an Ohio State miss, hit a 10-foot fadeaway for a 61-60 lead to set up the wild finish.

GAME #28

#3 Illinois lowa 89 63

Feb. 24, 2001 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Marcus Griffin scored 19 points and reserve forwards Lucas Johnson and Damir Krupalija flirted with double-doubles as No. 3 Illinois beat Iowa 89-63.

The Illini mixed the thrills of Senior Day festivities with a tinge of anger. Illinois was coming off a 63-61 loss at Ohio State two days ago and players wanted revenge for their worst game this season, a 78-62 loss in Iowa City on Jan. 11.

Illinois finished unheaten at home for the first time since 1988-89. The Illini have won 18 straight at the Assembly Hall.

While they honored four seniors before the game, it was a pair of junior reserves who shined. Johnson had 16 points and eight rebounds. Krupalija added 13 points and nine rebounds.

The Hawkeyes got 19 points from Dean Oliver and 14 from freshman Brody Boyd. But they never made it a contest.

Seven players scored during a 17-0 run that put Illinois ahead 33-14 with just under eight minutes remaining in the first half. And the Illini did not let up, going ahead 49-22 by halftime.

The Illini shut out the Hawkeyes for another five minutes early in the second half. Sergio McClain finished the 14-0 run with a breakaway dunk and a layup to put Illinois up 64-27 with just over 13 minutes remaining in the game.

Illinois stretched the lead to as much as 38 points as Self gave two seniors, Nate Mast and Joe Cross, more minutes than they had played all season.

GAME #29

#5 Illinois Minnesota

67 59

March 4, 2001 Williams Arena, Minneapolis, Minn.

When Illinois breaks from its huddles the rest of this season, players must find something new to say. Chanting "Big Ten champs!" won't be enough any more.

Despite some tense moments, the Illini claimed a share of their second Big Ten Conference title in four seasons with a 67-59 victory over Minnesota. Illinois led for the first time in the second half when Sean Harrington hit a 3-pointer for a 48-46 lead with 6:04 remaining.

The Illini, which finished in a first-place tie with Michigan State, earned the No. 1 seed in next week's Big Ten tournament because of a 77-66 victory over the Spartans on Feb. 6. Self became the first coach in 22 seasons to win a title in his first season in the Big Ten.

Minnesota, down to seven scholarship players, was forced to play a 1-3-1 zone that worked against the Illini, who shot just 36.4 percent from the field and 7-of-26 from 3-point range (26.9 percent). However, they made 20 of 23 free throws.

Minnesota led 31-30 at halftime despite falling behind 14-2 during the opening minutes. The Gophers went on a 13-2 run and eventually took a 27-25 lead on a basket by Terrance Simmons, who led all scorers with 19 points.

The Gophers held that lead until Harrington's 3-pointer. When Minnesota was forced to switch to man-to-man, the Illini's second-half man, Frank Williams, took over.

Following a Minnesota turnover, Williams drove the lane and dunked, pushing Illinois' lead to 50-46. A basket by Shane Schilling tied the score at 50-50 with 4:43 remaining, but another driving basket by Williams gave the Illini a 52-50 lead and they never again trailed.

#4 Illinois Purdue

83 66

March 9, 2001 United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Frank Williams can shoot, score, handle the ball and defend. And when Williams distributes the ball, the balanced Illini are tough to beat.

"Frank is a true point guard who can score, but our team is usually best when he doesn't have to," Illinois coach Bill Self said Friday after Williams led an 83-66 rout of Purdue in the Big Ten tournament quarterfinals. Williams scored 13 points and dished out a season-best 11 assists.

Marcus Griffin scored 14 points, and Cory Bradford and Sean Harrington 13 apiece for the top-seeded Illini. Brian Cook added 10 points, and he and Griffin grabbed nine tebounds each. Williams, who played 30 minutes without a turnover, showed why he was the league's player of the year during a 16-5 first-half run that put the Illini in command.

After Cook made a sweeping hook shot from his hip, Williams hit an off-balance fallaway jumper from the side of the lane. Then, following Bradford's third 3-pointer of the half, Williams came up with beautiful back-to-back passes to Damir Krupalija, who dunked on the first and hit a layup on the second to help the Illini build a 16-point lead.

Harrington, who led the Big Ten in 3-point shooting at 46 percent, and Bradford connected on three treys apiece in the first half as Illinois took a 47-33 lead.

Joe Marshall led Purdue with 13 points as the Boilermakers shot just 35 percent from the field for the game.

#4 Illinois Indiana

March 10, 2001 United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Tom Coverdale had 17 points and Kirk Haston blocked Frank Williams' last-second layup attempt as Indiana upset Illinois 58-56 in the semifinals of the Big Ten tournament.

The Illini put together one of their more disorganized efforts of the year. They shot less than 33 percent and had 12 turnovers. Cory Bradford had nine points, but it was on 3-of-11 shooting. Sergio McClain missed two free throws in the last 50 seconds and finished with two points.

And then there was Williams. He'd been near perfect Friday with a season-high 11 assists and no turnovers in 30 minutes, and then followed it with an impressive offensive display in the first half Saturday.

But he disappeared in the second half, not scoring until he made three free throws with less than five minutes to play. Williams finished with 14 points on 5-of-16 shooting.

Indiana went scoreless over the final 4:16, giving Illinois a wide open shot at the victory. Trailing 58-54, McClain made two free throws, giving Indiana the ball back with 45 seconds left.

Jared Jeffries missed a running jumper as the shot clock wound down, but IU grabbed the rebound forcing Illinois to foul.

Coverdale missed both shots with 8.9 seconds left, and Williams eventually came up with the rebound. He stumbled, regained control and drove the entire length of the floor, putting up a finger-roll layup with 1.5 seconds left.

But Haston came from his right hand and swatted the ball away as time expired. Haston finished with 16 points, three blocks and two steals. Jared Jeffries had 10 points and seven rehounds.

GAME #32

#4 Illinois 96 Northwestern St. 54

March 16, 2001 Dayton Arena, Dayton, Ohio

A bank shot, a dunk, a pair of 3's, a 10-point lead in the blink of an eye. All Illinois needed was 100 seconds to demonstrate the difference between a play-in team and a premier team. Illinois ran to a 10-0 lead in the opening 1:40, a blitz that dazzled Northwestern State and let them know there would be no upset. The Illini posted a commanding 96-54 victory.

Midway through the first half, Illinois was up by 22 points and substituting so freely that it had only one starter on the floor at times. Marcus Griffin scored 16 points, leading six players in double figures for Illinois. The Illini also dominated the boards 44-27, scoring half of their points from in the key against the diminutive Demons.

One hundred seconds after the tip-off, Northwestern State was down 10-0 and calling a timeout. Illinois made its first four shots, including a pair of 3-pointers, and pulled off a fastbreak dunk that sent a message. Frank Williams, the Big Ten's player of the year, stole a crosscourt pass by Josh Hancock and headed for the basket. As Hancock closed, Williams smoothly flipped a no-look pass behind his back to a trailing Griffin, who finished the play with an emphatic dunk.

Griffin had two dunks and a putback during an 11-1 run early in the second half that pushed the lead to 25 points. The Southland Conference champions realized their first NCAA tournament appearance was approaching an end.

#4 Illinois Charlotte

March 18, 2001 Dayton Arena, Dayton, Ohio

The Fighting Illini used pesky perimeter defense to beat Charlotte 79-61 on Sunday, winning a second-round game for the first time in 12 years Illinois will play Kansas, the regional's fourth seed, in a semifinal Friday in San Antonio.

The 49ers had a shot at the upset Sunday, but couldn't get its 3-point shots to fall. Charlotte, second only to Duke in 3-pointers made this season, missed 13 of its first 14 tries and never recovered. Charlotte hit 37 percent of its 3-point shots during the season. Against Illinois' extended defense, the 49ers hit only 6 of 30 (20 percent). They missed 13 of their first 14 tries, fell behind by double digits and never recovered.

Illinois also trained its defense on White, who led all Division I freshmen in scoring with a 19-point average. He missed his first three shots, committed a foul and had the ball stripped away as Illinois surged ahead 10-2. White managed only nine points on 4-of-13 shooting, missing all six of his 3-point tries. Teammates patted his back and rubbed his head, consoling him as the game wound down.

Everything went Illinois' way. It had one of its best defenders back - McClain played with a black pad on the right shin that he bruised in a first-round win over Northwestern State. He hit a pair of one-hand, running bank shots during an eight-point spurt that put Illinois ahead 27-16 and showed he

Once the lead reached 22 points early in the second half, coach Bill Self had the luxury of pacing his team and substituting freely.

#4 Illinois #12 Kansas

80 64

March 21, 2001 Alamodome, San Antonio, Texas

Bodies were banging and fouls were piling up. At practically every whistle, Illinois coach Bill Self was sending in another playet or two to replenish the troops.

It took 12 guys, but it worked. The Fighting Illini's depth and a career-best 30 points from Frank Williams carried the Midwest Region's top-seeded team to an 80-64 victory over

After trailing by 14 early in the second half, the fourthseeded Jayhawks got within five twice then were outscored 10-0 during the final 1:24 to make the game look more lopsided than it really was. Still, the 16-point loss is the worst tourna-ment defeat for KU coach Roy Williams in 37 games over 12

The Illini's extra weapon was a deep bench. The strengths came together perfectly as Illinois' smothering defense and quick hands forced the Jayhawks into nine turnovers in the game's first seven minutes. The Illini used that for an 11-0 run that put them ahead for good.

The Jayhawks scratched to within 23-21 about five minutes before halftime, but Williams answered with two 3-pointers and the Illini pulled out to a 41-29 lead at the break

Although Illinois wasn't shooting much better, the Illini's rotating door of reserves kept pumping life into their game. Their bench outscored Kansas' 28-0, with Luke Johnson scoring 15 of the points.

Williams, the Big Ten player of the year, hit 11 of 24 shots,

The Illini needed his big night to offset Cory Bradford going 1-of-13, including 1-of-9 on 3-pointers. Sergio McLain had 10 points and 10 rebounds.

The worn-out Jayhawks also were outrebounded 45-33 after averaging 27 more boards than their opponents last weekend.

#4 Illinois #5 Arizona

March 23, 2001 Alamodome, San Antonio, Texas

Gilbert Arenas scored 18 of his 21 points in the first half, Loren Woods scored 16 of 18 in the second half and Arizona gave Illinois as much of a pounding as it took to win the Midwest Regional final 87-81 Sunday. Top-seeded Illinois (27-8) got this far by playing a bruising defense and from the beginning it was obvious they were try ing to shut down the 7-foot Woods and power forward Michael Wright. Woods ended the game with seven blocks

While the pair didn't even attempt a shot in the first half, Arenas was lighting it up from the outside and Arizona was hitting 56 percent of its shots. Yet the second-seeded Wildcats were only up by four at halftime.

The Illini kept banging and made their move after Richard Jefferson went to the bench with four fouls and 16:07 left.

A 3-pointer by Lucas Johnson put Illinois ahead for the first time, 49-48, then a layup by Robert Archibald, who had a career-high 25 points, made it 56-54.

It was the biggest lead of the game for the Illini, who had beaten their previous three tournament foes by an average of 25.3 points. It didn't last long as Archibald fouled Luke Walton on the other end and his two free throws tied the game. After Marcus Griffin missed the front end of a one-andone, Woods put Arizona ahead for good, 58-56, with his first basket, a 2-footer that bounced several times on the rim before falling.

The Illini got as close as 84-81 in the closing seconds, but Gardner and Woods buried three foul shots to seal Arizona's second victory over Illinois in three games this season.

The teams combined for 59 fouls and 81 free throws. The Wildcats took the most, hitting 43-of-56, including 33-of-42 coming in the second half. Six Illini players fouled out. Arizona set NCAA Tournament records for free throws made and attempted, while it was also the most ever by an Illini opponent. It also was the first time in Illinois history that the Illini had six players fould out of one game.

Head Coach Elwood Brown (1 year, 6-8, .429)

Leo Hana was put in charge of building the basketball program at Illinois after a women's program had existed for years. A team, led by its playing captain Roy Riley, beat Champaign High School Jan. 6, two weeks before Hana was able to replace Riley with a "professional" coach, Elwood Brown became Illinois' first basketball coach Jan. 20, 1906, and proceeded to turn in a commendable coaching job, especially since the squad lost two of its mainstays during the season. "The results of the season were on the whole satisfactory. In the future, there will not be such a lack of material as hampered the coach (Brown) this season," wrote the 1907 Illio.

Head Coach F.L. Pinckney (1 year, 1-10, .090)

Pinckney took over the coaching reins for a year in 1907. There was promise for a good season after the solid start the program had made in 1906. More than 100 men tried out for the team. Pinckney found at least three freshman he thought would help the team and placed them on the varsity squad. However, the Western Conference Committee declared the three ineligible, leaving Pinckney with a much depleted team and Illinois with its worst record ever. The decision to make the freshmen ineligible gave Pinckney the same problem Brown faced the year before - turning out a winning team with limited talent.

Head Coach Fletcher Lane (1 year, 20-6, .769)

Fletchet Lane's all-time best winning percentage among Illinois coaches is misleading, since he only coached for one year. His 20-6 team of 1908 benefited from a long Southern trip in which the team hear several YMCA and club teams from Tennessee, Texas, Alabama, and Georgia. The club was billed as a closelyknit group, due in part to the long trip. The players, however, did not appear to appreciate Lane's coaching style. M.G. Dadant, the 1908 captain wrote, "Handicapped as they were by the lack of any competent coaching, the players went through the season in perfect harmony, each one relinquishing any personal feelings that the team might be better as a whole."

Head Coach H. V. Juul (2 years, 12-10, .545)

H. V. Juul became the first Illinois basketball coach to stay for more than one year. He also became the first former Fighting Illini player to head the Illinois basketball program and was captain of the 1907 squad. After leading Illinois to a 12-10 record over two years, he departed to become a professional baseball player, enjoying stints with the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds. Juul was the son of a former Illinois

Congressman and, prior to his death in 1928, was a committeeman in the 35th Ward in Chicago as well as campaign director for the Republican Party headquarters at the Morrisson Hotel in Chicago.

Head Coach T.E. Thompson (2 years, 14-14, .500)

T. E. Thompson also had a two-year career as head basketball coach at Illinois, compiling a 14-14 record. Thompson claimed, at the time, to be the only player in Western Conference history to have played five years of collegiate basketball. He was at Northwestern for one year before playing at Illinois for four additional seasons. In addition to his duties as basketball coach at Illinois in 1911-12, he also served as Athletic Director George Huff's only assistant in the athletic department, doubling as the school's general manager of athletics and as ticket manager. After leaving the university, he founded The Thomas Thompson Company in Highland Park, Ill., a manufacturer of enamel products.

Head Coach Ralph Jones (8 years, 85-34, .714)

In addition, Jones was head coach of the Chicago Bears from 1930-33, where, among other achievements, he was credited with the revival of the T-formation, and the use of a man in motion to throw off the defense.

Head Coach Frank Winters (2 years, 25-12, .676)

While in his two-year stint as coach of the Illinois baskerhall team, Frank Winters was faced with having only a handful of veteran players available and was forced into installing an entirely new system of play. His 25-12 record in two years was a testament to the way Winters made negatives into positives. Upon arriving as head coach in the fall of 1920, he inherited a team whose best player, Chuck Carney, had just severely injured his knee in the last football game. Nonetheless, the team went on to an 11-7 record and improved to 14-5 in the 1922 campaign.

Head Coach J. Craig Ruby (14 years, 148-95, .609)

J. Craig Ruby was known as one of the great basketball tacticians of his time. He and legendary Kansas coach Phog Allen actively campaigned together for higher baskets to offset the advantage of tall centers. Ruby alone advocated the elimination of the dribble to do away with stalling, and wanted the hoop enlarged to 20 inches in diameter rather than the standard 18. Ruby's second season at Illinois produced a tie for the Big Ten championship in 1924, but it was not until 1935 that he could lead his team to tie for top conference honors again.

Head Coach Douglas R. Mills (11 years, 151-66, .696)

Dong Mills was not only an extremely successful basketball coach at Illinois, but one of the University's most prolific and long-standing administrators. He began association Fighting Illini athletics as a standout in both football and basketball in the late 1920s, Mills became the first Illinois head basketball coach to lead his squad to three Big Ten crowns. Also included in his 11-year coaching tenure was the formation of the legendary

"Whiz Kids" team of 1942 and '43. That team won backto-back Big Ten crowns. After retiring from the coaching ranks in 1947, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Head Coach Harry Combes (20 years, 316-150, .678)

Harry Combes only had to move across town after accepting the job as head coach at Illinois. Prior to joining the Illini, he had been head coach at Champaign High School where he posted an astounding 254-46 record, including winning the state title in 1946. Once at Illinois he won three Big Ten ritles in his first five seasons ('49, '51 and '52). It was also Combes who led the Fighting Illini to three third-place finishes in the NCAA Tournament in the four-year petiod from 1949-52. The squad won 79 of the 100 games during those four years. Illinois' 1952 Final Four appearance was the first officially recognized Final Four and the only Final Four appearance Illinois made until 1989. Until Lon Henson broke the record in 1990, Combes' 316 wins were the most wins ever by an Illinois head basketball coach.

Head Coach Harv Schmidt (7 years, 89-77, .536)

Harv Schmidt, a former alltime great player at Illinois, returned to his alma mater in 1968 after serving as an assistant at New Mexico for three years. Within three years of his arrival. he had brought Illinois back to among the elite programs in the Big Ten. The heginning of his tenure marked what possibly was the highwater mark in fan enthusiasm. Illinois led the nation in attendance in 1970, averaging 16,128 per home contest, as students routinely camped out for tickets outside the newly opened, state-of-rhe-art Assembly Hall.

Head Coach Gene Bartow (1 year, 8-18, .308)

Brought to Illinois to continue the magical rebuilding jobs he had undertaken at Valparaiso and Memphis State, Gene Bartow was counted on by Athletic Director Cecil Coleman to restore the successful level of play fans had become accustomed to in the past few decades. However, Bartow's stay in Champaign was short-lived, lasting only one year and producing an 8-18 record. The lure away from Illinois was a strong one for Bartow; he was hired away by UCLA to replace legendary Bruin coach John Wooden.

Head Coach Lou Henson (21 years, 423-224, .654)

Lou Henson, the all-time winningest coach in Illinois basketball history, came to Champaign-Urbana after successful head coaching stints at Hardin-Simmons and New Mexico State Universities. He finished his career No. 12 on the NCAA all-time victory list with 663 wins. Illinois became a national power under Henson, being selected to the NCAA tournament 11 times. The highlight of the postseason competition came in 1989 when the spectacular Flying Illini team won a school-record 31 contests and advanced to the Final Four, Henson's Illini were also seeded among the top four in their regional for six consecutive years (1984-89) for the second-longest such streak (next to North Carolina) ever, Illinois finished in the upper division in the Big Ten nine consecutive seasons (1983-91), and had 11 straight years of producing a plus-.500 Big Ten record from 1981 to 1991, the fifth-longest streak of that kind in Big Ten history. Henson led the Illini to a 1984 Big Ten co-championship and No. 1 national ranking in 1989. He coached Illinois to nine straight 20-win seasons from 1983 to 1991and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 victories.

Illini By The Numbers 183

Over the course of 96 years, the University of Illinois has enjoyed the creation of a stellar basketball tradition that includes Final Four appearances, All-Americans, Academic All-Americans, NBA first-round draft selections, and a place among the nation's elite basketball programs year-in and year-out. The University of Illinois basketball tradition got its start when the Big Ten Conference officially began playing basketball in 1906. At the time the member schools of the "Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives", or "Western Conference", or "Big Ten Conference" as it was known were University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Purdue University, and the University of Wisconsin.

1906-1909 (34-30)

The first official game in Illinois history was a 71-4 romp over Champaign High School in Urbana on Jan. 12, 1906. The first four years of Illinois hoops saw four different coaches who combined for a 34-30 record. In the first season of Illinois basketball the Illini went 6-8, 3-6 in the Big Ten under head coach Elwood Brown. The following season the Illini's record dropped to 1-10, 0-8 under F.L. Pickney. A new coach, Fletcher Lane, and a new season arrived in 1907-08 and the Illini posted a 20-8 record and went 6-5 in the conference. Despite a successful season, the Illini underwent its fourth coaching change in as many years and new mentor Herb V. Juul stayed two seasons (1909 and 1910) and was 7-6 his inaugural year and 5-4 the next season.

The new decade brought the program an extended taste of success. In the 1910s Illinois won two Big Ten titles, in 1915 and 1917, and compiled a 95-48 record including a perfect 16-0 record in 1915. That 1915 season was the third in the eight-year tenure of head coach Ralph Jones and it produced the only unbeaten season in Illini history and the first Big Ten title for the Illinois basketball program. Following the perfect season the Illinois team was named national champions by the Helms Foundation. Jones' 1915 team scored twice as many points as its opponents and won the conference title by three games over Chicago.

The arrival of the Woods brothers in 1915 had a lot to do with the success of this era. Guard Ray Woods was named first-team All-America all three years he competed (1915-17), and brother Ralf, a forward, led the team in scoring in both 1916 and 1917. His consistency at the free throw line led to the establishment of the Ralf Woods Award, which is still given annually to the Fighting Illini player with the best free-throw percentage.

Illinois followed up its conference championship season with a second-place finish after posting a 13-3 record. The Illini dropped two games to Northwestern and one to eventual champion Wisconsin, but the first loss to the Wildcats was the Illini's first-ever overtime game as Northwestern scored two points in the overtime period to beat Illinois, 23-21, Feb. 12, 1916, at what is now the Kenney Gym Annex.

In 1918, Jones and the Illini picked up their second conference championship crown in three years as Illinois went 13-3 overall and 10-2 in league games. The 1917 team featured a starting guard named George Halas. The professional football pioneer and former Chicago Bear owner and head coach was known on the team for his gritty defense and he was named captain of the 1918 squad before entering the armed forces Jan. 18, 1918.

Jones led the Illini into the decade of the 1920s and started off this period with a 9-4 record and a third-place finish in the Big Ten in 1920. The following season a new mentor, Frank Winters, was in Champaign-Urbana and his two-year stay produced an 11-7 mark in 1921 and a 14-5 record in 1922.

Illinois Athletic Director George Huff replaced Winters with J. Craig Ruby, whose 14year tenure at Illinois is the third longest in program history. In his first three seasons, Ruby led the Illini to a 31-18 record and a share of the conference title with Wisconsin in 1924. In 1924, Illinois was 11-6 overall and 8-4 in the Big Ten.

After winning Illinois' third conference title in 1924, Ruby's Illini matched the win mark the following year (11-6, 8-4) but dropped to third place in the standings. The Illini opened the 1926 season on Dec. 12, 1925, against Butler in the newly built Men's Gymnasium, which would later be renamed George Huff Gymnasium after Illinois Athletic Director George Huff. Illinois won its first game at the new gym, 23-22. The remainder of the decade saw Illinois go 10-7 in both 1927 and 1929 taking fourth and fifth in the league standings, and 9-8 in 1926. The only losing season in Ruby's Illinois career came with a 5-12 mark in 1928 and it is one of only 12 losing seasons in the University's 95-year history.

1930-39 (120-61)

In the decade of the 1930s Illinois picked up Big Ten championships number four and five in 1935 and 1937. In 1935 the Illini squad was 5-3 after its first eight games, but rallied in the closing stretch of the season and won its last four contests to grab a share of the conference title.

A new star on the playing floor emerged in the 1935 season with the addition of Harry Combes to the roster. Combes, a three-year letterwinner, started for the Illini from 1935-37 and later returned to his alma mater as head coach of the Illini in 1948. Combes helped lead Illinois to both its Big Ten titles in the 1930s.

Ruby closed out his coaching tenure in 1935-36 leading Illinois to a 13-6 record, 7-5 in the Big Ten, and third place in the league standings.

The man chosen to replace Ruby was Douglas Mills. In his 11-year tenure as head coach, Mills established himself as the first coach in Illinois history to win or share three Big Ten championships.

In his first season, 1936-37, Mills' Illini squad captured a share of the Big Ten championship with a 10-2 league record. The Illini were 14-4 overall. Following that season, the men's gymnasium got a new name, George Huff Gymnasium, after former Illinois athletic director George Huff, who passed away on Oct. 1, 1936. During the championship season, future major league baseball Hall of Famer Lou Boudreau led the team in scoring with 8.7 points per game.

The decade of the 1940s brought much success to Illinois basketball. Head Coach Doug Mills led the Illini to consecutive Big Ten titles in 1942 and 1943. The Illini would add another league championship under Harry Combes in 1949.

The Illini were the 13th-winningest Division I team in the nation in the 1940s. Illinois' 150-57 record and .725 winning percentage was the best in the Big Ten. In 1941, Mills added to his coaching duties when he was named the school's director of athletics. That same year Art Mathisen arrived in Champaign in what would soon become the creation of the famed "Whiz Kids." In 1942, joining Mathisen were Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ken Menke, who captured the attention of the entire nation while winning back-to-back conference titles and combining for a 35-6 record, 25-2 in the Big Ten over those two seasons. To this day the "Whiz Kids" remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. They dazzled crowds everywhere averaging 58 points per game, while most teams were averaging in the low 40s.

The team was broken up March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces. All but Mathisen went on the play professionally, and Phillip became a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

After the departure of the Whiz Kids, Mills faced a major rebuilding job. Mills closed out his time as head coach at Illinois in the 1947 season. That mark coincided with the return of the "Whiz Kids" from military service. A crowd of 7,785, the largest home crowd to that point in Illinois history, jammed into Huff Gym to see their return on Dec. 6, 1946, against Cornell. The Whiz Kids played only the first half of the game in building a 49-13 lead, and the Illini won 87-39. The Illini opened league play with two losses and dug their way back to a second-place finish by winning eight of their last 10 games.

After retiring from coaching, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Former Illini Harry Combes was re-associated with the program when he was selected to replace Mills as head coach of the Fighting Illini. He had previously served as head coach at Champaign High School. In his first nine seasons at Illinois, he won three Big Ten titles and compiled an amazing record of 164-44 overall (.788) and 94-30 in the Big Ten (.758).

Combes first team at Illinois in 1947-48, led by Dike Eddleman and Jack Burmaster, set a Big Ten scoring record with 1,530 points, en route to a 15-5 overall record and 7-5 league finish. His second year as head coach, Combes collected his first of four Big Ten championships as a head coach. He finished his Illinois career with a total of six championships as a player and coach.

The four-year period between 1949-52 brought the University of Illinois three Big Ten championships, three 20-win seasons, and a 42-10 Big Ten mark. The 1949 squad, led by Eddleman, Bill Erickson, and Walter Osterkorn, was Illinois' first 20-game winner since 1908, finishing 21-4. That year, Illinois beat Yale, 71-

67, to advance to a national semifinal showdown with Kentucky at Madison Square Garden in New York City. The Illini fell to the Wildcats, 76-47, forcing Illinois to defeat Oregon State, 57-53, in Seattle for third place.

• Big Ten drops from 10 to nine teams with the departure of Chicago from the league in 1947.

1950-59 (165-64)

Two of the first three years in this decade saw Illinois bring home Big Ten championships. Illinois won the title in 1951 with a 13-1 league record and produced another 20-win season with a 22-5 record. That season featured a rematch with Kentucky, which had downed the Illini in the national semifinals in 1949. Illinois beat Columbia, 79-71, and North Carolina State, 84-70, to get to the national semifinals and a rematch with the Wildcats. In a heart-breaking loss, Kentucky nipped Illinois, 76-74, on a shot by Wildcat sub Shelby Linville with 12 seconds remaining in the game. The Illini collected third place nationally by beating Oklahoma A&M, 61-46, in Minneapolis.

The 1952 season brought Illinois another Big Ten title and introduced John Kerr, a center from Tilden Tech in Chicago. He began his three-year reign as Illinois' top scorer with a sophomore-record 357 points. The Illini recorded a 22-4 overall mark and went 12-2 in the conference. Once again, Illinois advanced to the national semifinals and ran into underdog St. John's. The Redmen fought their way to a 61-59 victory in the NCAA's first Final Four, in Seattle. Illinois took another third-place award home after beating Santa Clara, 67-64, behind 26 points by Kerr.

The 1954 season was highlighted when Kerr shattered Illinois' single-season scoring record by tallying 556 points in his senior year. Kerr's 1,299 career points in three seasons currently rank 14th on the all-time Illinois scoring list. He held first place in Illini career scoring until Dave Downey passed him in 1963. After his Illinois career came to an end, Kerr started a 12-year professional career and then became the first head coach of the Chicago Bulls in 1966.

Once again the Illini hoopsters led the Big Ten in wins for a decade with a 165-64 record in the 1950s. The Illini's winning percentage, .721, ranked 11th nationally. On Dec. 17, 1956, Illinois defeated San Francisco, 62-33, snapping the Dons' 51-game regular-season win streak. Associated Press began its basketball poll in 1949 with UPI adding its poll in 1951 and from 1951-56 the Illini finished the season ranked in the Top 20 nationally every year. Illinois' highest final ranking in the 1950s was second in both polls in 1952.

• Big Ten grows to 10 teams with addition of Michigan State in the 1951 season.

1960-69 (145-95)

The 1960s produced Big Ten championship No. 11 for Illinois in 1963. That season the Illini were 20-6 overall, 11-3 in the conference. Senior Dave Downey led the team in scoring as he had the previous two seasons and he moved into first on the all-time scoring list. Downey also set the school record for points in a game, which still stands, with 53 in a road loss to Indiana on Feb. 16, 1963.

Illinois was a game back of first place in the league standings with only two games remaining when the Assembly Hall opened its doors on March 4, 1963. Illinois' first game at the Hall was an exciting 79-73 victory over Northwestern before 16,137 fans to stay within a game of first-place Ohio State. After Illinois edged Iowa, 73-69, in the last game of the season, the Fighting Illini would need an overtime loss two hours later by the Buckeyes at Indiana to share the title.

The 1965 season was highlighted by Illinois' season opening 118-83 victory over defending national-champion UCLA at the Assembly Hall. Combes called the game, "one of the best an Illinois team has ever played."

Combes closed out his Illini coaching career in 1967 with a 12-12 record and seventh-place Big Ten finish. The season was highlighted by a 98-97 victory over No. 3 Kentucky in Lexington on Dec. 8.

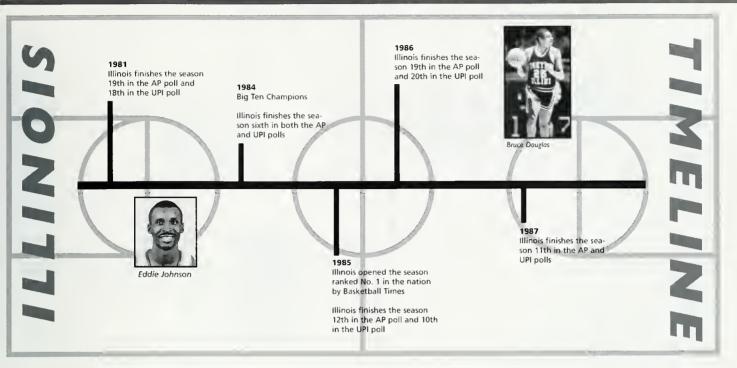

Another former Illini, Harv Schmidt, replaced Combes and led the team into the 1970s. Schmidt's Illini went 11-13 in 1968 and rebounded to a 19-5 record in 1969 and a second-place Big Ten finish.

1970-79 (129-129)

The decade of the 1970s brought two coaching changes, the second one brought Lou Henson, who would become the longest-tenured coach in Illinois history. In 1970, Illinois set an NCAA attendance record, selling out all 11 home games for an average of 16,128 fans per game.

Although the Illini recorded a losing mark in 1971 (11-12), that season welcomed Nick Weatherspoon from Canton, Ohio. "Spoon" stepped right into the starting lineup and led the team in rebounds. The next two years he led the team in scoring and rebounding before becoming a first-round draft selection and spending eight seasons in the NBA.

Harv Schmidt concluded his Illinois coaching career in 1974 as the Illini's record dropped to 5-18 and last place in the Big Ten standings. The following season, Gene Bartow served as head coach, but left to take the head coaching job in replacing the legendary John Wooden at UCLA after only one season. After Bartow's departure following the 1975 campaign, the University picked New Mexico State Head Coach Lou Henson to bring success back to the Illinois program. He did just that, taking a team that won 14 games in his inaugural season to a 19-11 record within just four years. The last years of the 1970s signaled the arrival of Eddie Johnson and Mark Smith, two players who would lead the team into the 1980s and pave the way for Illinois' return to national promi-

In 1979, Illinois finished seventh in the Big Ten, but went 19-11 overall, including ascension to No. 2 in the national polls after starting the year 15-0. That year, Illinois upset top-ranked Michigan State and Magic Johnson, 57-55, in one of the school's most memorable games. That year, Illinois also led the nation in field-goal percentage defense (.404).

Henson returned everyone for the 1980 campaign and the team gave the head coach his first of 11, 20-win seasons at Illinois. That year, Illinois made its first postseason appearance since 1963, finishing third in the NIT.

In 1981, Illinois made more strides in its return to the national spotlight with a 21-8 record, a third-place Big Ten finish and an invitation to the NCAA Tournament. The team received a first-round bye in the NCAA Tournament and beat Wyoming, 67-65, in Los Angeles to advance to the regionals in Salt Lake City, where Illinois lost to Kansas State, 57-52.

That year, the Fighting Illini led the Big Ten in scoring for the second consecutive season and were again led by Johnson and Smith. Guards Craig Tucker and Derek Harper arrived to add backcourt punch, and Harper began his Illini career being named Frst-Team Freshman All-America by ESPN and ABC.

The 1982 season brought Illinois another post-season appearance, in the NIT, and an 18-11 record. Harper led the Big Ten in assists and steals.

One of Illinois' best groups arrived on campus in 1983. Guards Bruce Douglas and Doug Altenberger, and forward Scott Meents and Efrem Winters joined sophomores George Montgomery and Anthony Welch to form the nucleus for a team that would win 95 games during the next four seasons.

In 1983, the Fighting Illini became the nation's 25th team to cap the 1,000-win mark with a 72-70 victory over Texas A&M in the Great Alaska Shootout. Later that year, Harper was selected First-Team Alf-Big Ten, falling one vote shy of being a unanimous pick, before leaving school early for the NBA draft. He was a first round selection of the Dallas Mavericks as the first pick in franchise history.

The 1984 season brought Illinois its 12th Big Ten championship in a season where Illinois had four overtime games including an epic fourovertime 75-66 victory over Michigan. The next game was a two-overtime win at lowa, Henson's 400th victory as a college head coach. The Illini recorded a 26-5 mark and were 15-3 in Big Ten play, tying Purdue for the league title. The 1984 season also marked Illinois' first back-to-back 20 win seasons since 1951-52. The Illini would go on to record a total of nine consecutive 20-win seasons from 1983-91. Illinois advance to the NCAA Regional Finals before dropping a heart-breaking 54-51 loss to Kentucky on its home court causing the NCAA to put a rule in place not allowing a school to play in a tournament game on its home court.

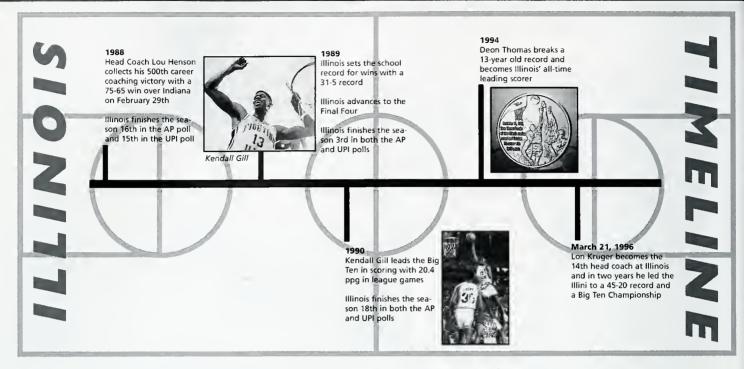

The Illini started out the 1985 season ranked No. 1 nationally by Basketball Times in its preseason poll. Illinois made a return trip to the NCAA Tournament where the Illini advanced to the Sweet 16.

From 1984-87, Illinois' stingy defense ranked first in the Big Ten allowing only 54.9 points in 1984, 55.7 in 1985, 63.3 in 1986, and 70.2 in 1987. During that same 1984-87 period, Illinois also ranked first in field goal defense, and the Illini were first in three-point defense in 1987.

Junior college transfer Ken Norman highlighted the 1986 season as he set the school record for single-season field-goal percentage (.641). The next season saw the addition of an outstanding group of young players to the roster. Guards Sreve Bardo, Kendall Gill and Larry Smith joined forward Nick Anderson in a highly tonted recruiting class. This group produced another 20-win season (23-8) and a trip to the NCAA Tournament, where Illinois was beaten 68-67 by Austin Peay in arguably the school's most shocking upser.

The 1988 season brought Henson his 500th career victory and laid the foundation for what would be an incredible history making season in 1989. The 1989 team may very well have been the most talented team ever assembled at Illinois. The players known as the "Flying Illini," included all the important pieces of 1988 (Kenny Battle, Gill, Bardo, Lowell Hamilton, Anderson and Smith) as well as junior college All-American P.J. Bowman and former high school All-American Marcus Liberty.

The team shattered most of its all-time records including points in a season (3,110), most steals in a season (341), and most wins in a season (31). The Fighting Illini won their first 16 games and were ranked No. 2 in the nation going into a nationally televised game against Georgia Tech, whom Illinois had already beaten, 80-75, at the Rainbow Classic in December. The Yellow Jackets led, 47-31, but Illinois managed to surge back to force overtime, eventually needing two extra periods to win the game. Along with the No. 1 ranking the next day came some bad news. Illinois' catalyst, Gill, had broken a bone in his foot and would miss the next 12 games. Hurt by the loss of Gill, Illinois lost three of the next four games and its No. 1 ranking. The Illini rallied to finish second in the Big Ten with a 14-4 record and with Gill back in the lineup, the Illini were awarded a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region of the NCAA Tournament. After rolling to victories over McNeese State and Ball State at the Hoosier Dome, a power-packed regional in Minneapolis with Missouri, Louisville and Syracuse, stood in the way of Illinois' trip to the Final Four.

Louisville fell victim to Illinois, losing 83-69, which set up a regional final matchup with Syracuse. The Fighting Illini held off Syracuse to advance to the Final Four in Seattle where Illinois faced Michigan, a team it had beat twice already in 1989, in the national semifinals. Despite Battle's 29-point, 11-rebound effort, Illinois fell to eventual national-champion Michigan, 83-81.

1990-99 (187-120)

Coming off the Final Four season, Illinois went 21-8 overall, 11-7 in the Big Ten in 1990. Gill, a senior, became the first player since Norman in 1987 to average 20 ppg and he was named a First-Team All-American by UPI. Gill led the Big Ten in scoring and was a finalist for the John Wooden Player of the Year Award. He was the fifth overall pick in the NBA draft that summer, going to the Charlotte Hornets.

Entering the 1991 season, Illinois, faced with the loss of Gill, Bardo and Liberty, who declared himself eligible for the NBA draft after his junior season, was picked to finish as low as ninth in the Big Ten by some publications. But, junior forward Andy Kaufmann burst onto the scene scoring 660 points, the second largest single-season total in Illinois history. He and the Illini proved the preseason expectations wrong by going 21-10 and finishing third in the Big Ten.

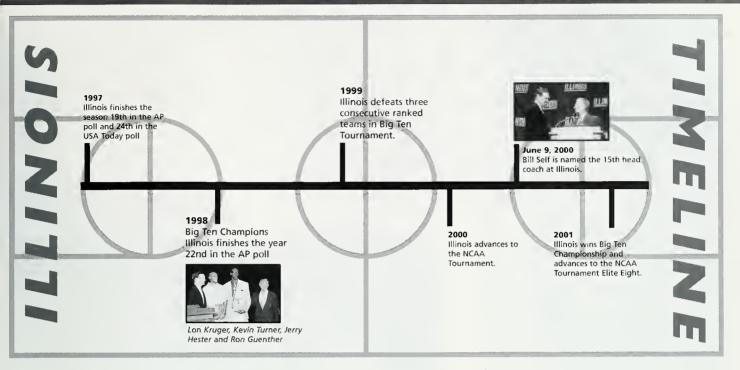

Illinois' consecutive 20-win season streak was snapped in 1992 when the Illini posted its first losing record in 14 years, going 13-15. After sitting out a season, Kaufmann returned for the 1992-93 campaign and helped lead Illinois to a 19-13 record and trip to the NCAA Tournament. The following season, Illinois again advanced to the NCAA Tournament and in the process, senior Deon Thomas broke a 13-year old record and became the school's all-time leading scorer. Thomas scored his record-breaking 1,693rd point in the championship game of the Illini/Pepsi Classic against American University and he went on to finish his career with 2,129 points.

In 1994 a young upstart freshman, Kiwane Garris, would begin his assault on the all-time scoring list. He notched 446 points as a freshman and would be the catalyst on the Illini team over the next few years.

After advancing to the NCAA Tournament in 1995, Illinois extended its run on postseason play with a berth in the 1996 NIT. In 1996, the Illini started the season 11-1 before losing Garris to injury. Without its leader, the Illini dropped its first five Big Ten games. Garris returned, but was never 100 percent and junior forward Jerry Hester missed games with a severely sprained ankle. The Illini finished the 1996 season 18-13 overall, 7-11 in the Big Ten. But more importantly the 1996 season marked the end of the most successful era in Illinois basketball when Lou Henson announced his retirement before the end of the season. In his 21 years at Illinois Henson notched 423 victories and guided the Illini to 11 NCAA Tournament appearances. The Okay, Okla. native coached Illinois to 11, 20-win seasons and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 league victories.

On March 21, 1996, a new era in Illinois baskerball began when Director of Athletics Ron Guenrher introduced Lon Kruger as the University's 14th men's basketball coach. Kruger came to Illinois from the University of Florida and carried a list of impressive credentials, including guiding Florida to the Final Four in 1994.

In his first year at Illinois, Kruger guided Illinois to a 22-10 record and the second round of the NCAA Tournament. His 22 wins in 1997 are the most by a coach in his first season ar Illinois. Over the course of the season, Illinois defeated five ranked opponents, including No. 7 Minnesota, 96-90, at the Assembly Hall. Illinois also traveled to Bloomington and handed Indiana a 78-74 loss, the first win for Illinois at Assembly Hall in Bloomington since 1990.

During the course of the year, Garris etched his name in the Illinois record book with one of the best season performances by any Illini player in history. He finished his career second on the all-time scoring list with 1,948 points and set the single-season record for free throws made and attempted. Garris averaged 19.4 points and missed being the Big Ten's leading scorer by three one-hundredths of a point.

In 1998, Kruger did the unthinkable as he took a team picked to finish seventh in the Big Ten and guided the Illini to a share of its first Big Ten title since 1984. On the way to the league crown, Illinois went 5-0 against Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan for the first time in school history the Illini had gone undefeated against those teams during the course of a season.

Illinois advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament after earning a No. 5 seed in the West Regional. The Illini defense was the Big Ten's best as Illinois finished the year first in scoring defense, field-goal defense and threepoint defense in league games.

In October 1998, Illinois moved into a stateof-the-art basketball practice facility, the Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex. The facility, which houses the coaches offices and practice gym, also features a weight room, training room, video review room, players' lounge and locker rooms.

The Illini closed out the 1999 season with an amazing run at the Big Ten Tournament title. After entering the tournament as the 11th-seeded team, Illinois reeled off three straight victories over Top 25-ranked teams before losing in the championship game to second-ranked Michigan State. Illini freshman Cory Bradford was the Big Ten's Freshman of the Year and was also selected to the All-Tournament team. Bradford set a school record by making 85 three pointers on the season.

2000-01 (49-18)

In 2000, for the third time in four seasons under Lon Kruger, Illinois advanced to the NCAA Tournament, this time as a #4 seed. After defeating Penn in the opening round, the Illini season ended with a defeat to evental national runnerup Florida. The Fighting Illini spent much of the season ranked in the Top 25, climbing as high as No. 15 in late December. An early threegame losing streak in Big Ten play put the Illini in a hole to start league play at 1-3. But, Illinois went on to win 10 of the last 12 league games before finishing second in the Big Ten Tournament. Cory Bradford earned second-team All-Big Ten honors after leading Illinois in scoring and the Big Ten in three-point field goals. He broke his own three-point field goal record by making 96 on the season. Forward Brian Cook was named Co-Freshman of the Year in the league and earned All-Tournament honors with strong play in the Big Ten Tournament.

In May, Kruger left Illinois to become head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Another era of Illinois basketball was begun when the University named Bill Self its 15th head men's basketball coach on June 9, 2000. Self came to Illinois from Tulsa where he had led the Golden Hurricane to consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, including an impressive 32-5 record and tournament run to the regional finals in 2000.

Self's first season at Illinois was certainly memorable. The Illini were ranked in the Top 10 the entire season and tied for the Big Ten Championship with Michigan State before earning a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. The Illini run was ended in the regional final to eventual national runner-up Arizona, the third meeting between the two schools on the season.

Sophomore Frank Williams became the first Illini player to earn Big Ten Player of the Year honors since 1967 and was named to several postseason All-America squads. Junior Cory Bradford set an NCAA record by making a three-point field goal in 88 consecutive games.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois exercises final authority over the policies and governance of all three campuses of the University (Chicago, Springfield, Urbana-Champaign), within limits fixed by the Illinois Constitution and state law.

Legislation approved by the General Assembly, signed by the governor and tested in court has changed trustee selection. In 1996, the governor began appointing new trustees, as terms expired. Until the law changed, trustees had been elected by the people of Illinois in November general elections.

As before, there are nine trustees. Each serves for six years. Their terms are staggered, with three expiring every two years. All trustees serve without pay. The governor is also an ex officio member of the board, with a vote.

In addition, three students, one each from the campuses of Chicago, Springfield and Urbana-Champaign, serve single-year terms on the board.

Trustees elect their own chair annually, in January, from among the nine members. The 2001 chair is Gerald W. Shea of Burr Ridge.

The Suniversity Administration

PRESIDENT JAMES J. STUKEL

James J. Stukel begins his seventh year as president of the University of Illinois. Since becoming the University's 15th chief executive officer, Stukel has taken his four-point plan to thousands of Illinois citizens, including alumni and friends of the University, through community visits and special events in Illinois and several states.

The first point of the Stukel plan is to strengthen the connections between the University and the people of Illinois, in a redefinition of the UI's traditional land-grant obligations. The second is to upgrade students' educational experience through smaller classes and best use of the educational technology. Third is to cut costs where possible, stress productivity and create a positive, business-like administration that reassures taxpayers, tuition-payers and private donors that their money is being used efficiently. And fourth is to maintain the highest quality in a niche filled by relatively few U.S. Universities – basic and applied research.

For four years before becoming president, Stukel served as chancellor and chief executive officer of the University of Illinois at Chicago, leading UIC into the first rank of research universities.

Stukel has been part of the University of Illinois family since enrolling in graduate school in 1962. He spent 23 years on the Urbana-Champaign campus as an administrator, engineering professor and researcher. He then moved to UIC, spending one year as vice chancellor for research and five years as executive vice chancellor and vice chancellor for academic affairs before assuming the chancellor position in Chicago.

Born March 30, 1937, Stukel earned his B.S. in mechanical engineering from Purdue University in 1959 and spent two years as a research engineer for the Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. In 1962, Stukel enrolled in graduate school at Illinois, earning his M.S. in mechanical engineering in 1963 and his Ph.D. in mechanical engineering in 1968.

He became assistant professor of environmental engineering and mechanical engineering at Illinois in 1968, associate professor in 1971 and full professor in 1975.

Stukel is a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Institutions, as well as a member of the board and cochair of the Council of Governmental Affairs at the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. He also is on the executive committee of the Illinois Coalition and is a governing board member of the Illinois Council on Economic Education. In May 1997, he received an honorary doctor of engineering degree from Purdue University.

Stukel and his wife, the former M. Joan Helpling, have four children and three grandchildren.

CHANCELLOR NANCY CANTOR

Dr. Nancy Cantor became Chancellor of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign on July 21, 2001, pledging to maintain its status as one of the great public research universities in the nation and promote its excellence to the world academic community.

She has held a number of academic leadership positions prior to becoming the chief executive officer at Illinois. Most recently, she held the position of Provost and Executive Vice President of Academic Affairs at the University of Michigan. Previous to that, she was Dean of the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies and Vice Provost for Academic Affairs at Michigan and Chair of the Department of Psychology at Princeton University.

Cantor is a psychologist specializing in the fields of Personality and Social Psychology, and Personality and Cognition. She has coauthored or edited three books, and is the author or co-author of more than 30 book chapters and nearly 50 articles.

She is a fellow of the American Psychological Society, the American Psychological Association and the Society for Personality and Social Psychology. She has received many awards and honors, including the Distinguished Scientific Award for an Early Career Contribution to Psychology from the American Psychological Association, and the Woman of Achievement Award of the Anti-Defamation League. She was recently elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and to the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences, and serves as vice chair of the Board of Directors of the American Association for Higher Education.

Well known to higher education nationally, she has been actively involved with the National Science Foundation through her service on its various advisory boards and study sections. She served as a member of the National Research Council Committee on National Needs in Biomedical and Behavioral Science Research and as vice chair of the NRC Committee on Women in Science and Engineering.

Cantor is married to Dr. Steven Brechin, an environmental sociologist; they have two children, Maddy and Archie.

Division of Intercollegiate Athletics

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics (DIA) was chartered in 1892 as a not-for-profit corporation of the State of Illinois. It was charged with overseeing and conducting the University's intercollegiate athletic programs and associated support services, and operated as a separate entity.

After the state legislature voted in June 1989 to bring UI athletics within the University proper, the DIA assumed the functions and responsibilities of the Athletic Association. The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics began operations officially July 1, 1989, and now, more than a century after University of Illinois athletics began, the mission is still to achieve excellence both in the classroom and in sport competition.

The director of athletics is the division's chief executive officer, and reports directly to the chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus. The chancellor has final authority regarding the athletic program in all areas except for budget and major appointments. Those decisions rest with the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The Athletic Board serves the DIA in an advisory capacity. It is composed of 18 members, (nine faculty, five alumni, three students and one trustee); and the three non-voting (ex-officio) members from the University administration.

The faculty and student members are nominated by the Urbana-Champaign Senate and selected by the

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics does not receive state tax dollars and over the years has been able to fully fund the NCAA maximum allowable number of athletic scholarships for student-athletes in each of its sports programs, as well as to hire excellent coaches and maintain and upgrade its facilities, staying on par with the best major collegiate programs across the nation.

This has been accomplished through revenues derived from four major sources: gate receipts from football and men's basketball; television and radio rights fees for those two sports; corporate sponsorships and donations to the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund. The FISF contributions provide the maximum allowable number of scholarships in the 19 men's and women's sports at an average annual cost of approximately $10,000 for in-state student-athletes and about $15,000 for those from outside Illinois.

FACILITIES

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics utilizes and maintains 12 facilities for competition and the administration of 19 sports. The facilities include Memorial Stadium, Assembly Hall, Huff Hall, Illinois Field, Eichelberger Field, the Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Armory, Atkins Tennis Center, the Intramural and Physical Education Building, Kenney Gym, the University of Illinois Orange and Blue Golf Courses, the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility and the Irwin Academic Center.

The latest facility added to the list is a $12.5 million indoor football practice facility, located just east of the current Ubben Football Complex and locker room. The football practice field will opens directly onto the Location Practice Field and opened in the winter of 1000

In 1996, more than 100 members of the DIA staff moved into the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, located on the east-west axis between the Atkins Tennis Center and the Assembly Hall. The facility houses DIA coaches, administration and staff, including the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund, the Varsity "I" Association, accounting and personnel, athletic public relations and marketing and compliance.

A "Park of Tradition" commemorating the history of Fighting Illini athletics is planned adjacent to the Bielfeldt Building, along with the opening of the Illinois Hall of Fame. The Ubben Basketball Practice Facility opened in the fall of 1998 and features practice courts for men's and women's basketball, offices and meeting rooms, training and equipment facilities, strength and conditioning and locker rooms.

In 1992, the DIA completed an $18 million renovation project on Memorial Stadium, replacing the main and balcony stands on the east and west sides of the Stadium. It has been a busy two decades for facility construction at Illinois as the Atkins Tennis Center opened in 1991, featuring six indoor and eight outdoor lighted courts, along with a pro shop and balcony viewing areas. The Atkins Tennis Center has hosted the Big Ten Championships, the NCAA Regionals and numerous professional tournaments and is also a resource for the entire Champaign-Urbana tennis community. Fighting Illini men's and women's tennis have risen to the top of the Big Ten Conference with the men's squad having won the last five Big Ten Championships.

Illinois Field, the home of the 2000 Big Ten Tournament champion Illini baseball squad, and the Outdoor Track Stadium have also seen construction upgrades, adding lights to both facilities and expanding the track stadium to accomodate Illinois women's soccer matches. The Outdoor Track and Soccer Stadium also includes future plans for seating for 8,000 and a permanent press box.

Eichelberger Field, the new home of Illinois softball, opened in time for the 2001 spring season. The field plays host to Illinois' newest sport.

Four years ago, the Irwin Academic Center opened on campus, providing U1 student-athletes with state-of-the-art computer study areas, quiet rooms, conference rooms, career planning and placement and other academic programs all under one roof. The Irwin Academic Center is utilized by nearly 600 student-athletes on an annual basis.

The Illini men's and women's basketball squads compete in the Assembly Hall, billed for many years as college basketball's finest arena. During the past two years, the Assembly Hall has undergone more than $11 million in facility upgrades, including new locker rooms, training rooms, meeting and dining areas, storage and other improvements designed to showcase Illinois basketball.

Huff Hall, the home for Illinois men's basketball and the famed IHSA "March Madness" state basketball tournament from 1925-63, has undergone nearly $1 million in construction since 1990 and is the home for Illini volleyball, wrestling and gymnastics.

Future construction plans include renovations and expansion of the Irwin Football Complex and a multipurpose indoor sport facility adjacent to the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.

The Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building opened in June of 1996.

Director of Athletics Ron Guenther

In time years as Director of Athletics at the University of Illinois, Ron Guenther has returned his alma mater to the national elite in competing for championships in 19 intercollegiate sports with outstanding coaches, staff and facilities, including a Top-25 finish in the Sears Cup competition. He was named the 2001 NACDA/Continental Airlines Central Region Athletic Director of the Year. The MVP of the 1966 Illinois football squad, Guenther continues to move the Illini athletic program on a breakneck pace toward a position of competing at a championship level in all programs.

In the last five years, Guenther, 55, has overseen a series of dramatic changes that have local, regional and national media, alumni and fans marveling at his abilities to add sport programs in women's soccer and softball, recruit top-level coaches, plan for and build championship facilities with more than $50 million in capital donations and create a model program producing outstanding student-athletes. In the last five years, Guenther has established Illinois as a rising power among NCAA institutions by:

- Constructing a $12.5 million state-of-the-art indoor football practice facility, completed in the fall of 2001, as well as overseeing the construction of the Richard T. Ubben Basketball Practice Facility for the Illini men's and women's cage programs.
- Adding popular women's sports like soccer and softball as the first UI athletic programs added in two decades, while also securing funds to build the Eichelberger Softball Complex that opened last spring.
- · Hiring championship-level coaches such as Head Basketball Coach Bill Self, Head Football Coach Ron Turner and Head Women's Basketball Coach Theresa Grentz. Guenther also brought back former Illini assistant coach Don Hardin to his alma mater to take over the reins of the volleyball program, and extended the contract of nationally prominent wrestling coach Mark Johnson. In his eight years as a director, Guenther has also hired nationally-recognized men's tennis coach Craig Tiley, along with a group of talented coaches who have their respective sports on the rise in softball's Terri Sullivan, soccer's Tricia Taliaferro, men's golf's Mike Small, women's tennis' Sujay Lama, swimming's Sue Novitsky and women's gymnastics' Bob Starkell.

- Signing an exclusive $7.5 million agreement with Nike as one of only 13 Nike institutions in the United States.
- Christening the $7.2 million Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.
- Overseeing the construction and opening of the $2.1 million Irwin Academic Center, providing 600 student-athletes with a state-of-the-art, convenient academic center to reach their full potential as students.

Under Guenther's leadership, Illinois has steadily improved its performance on the field and in the classroom. Off the field, Illinois student-athletes have continued to benefit from outstanding academic services programs, matching the overall campus grade point average and producing nearly 100 Academic All-Big Ten award winners annually in all sports. Guenther also has spearheaded a revolution for funding for championship-level programs and facilities as the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics has opened necessary additional revenue streams totaling more than $3 million through working partnerships with corporate sponsors and management of the Illini Sports Radio Nerwork.

Guenther's aggressive plan to make the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics a valuable and enthusiastic partner in the overall education, research and service mission of the University has begun to pay dividends in the 21st century.

Now in his fourth decade with the University of Illinois, Guenther was the Most Valuable Player on the 1966 Illinois football squad under Head Coach Pete Elliott. Guenther was a second-team All-Big Ten selection at offensive guard, also earning first-team Academic All-Big Ten honors and recognition as the University's outstanding senior in physical education.

Guenther earned his bachelor of science degree in physical education from Illinois in 1967 and an M.S. in administration in 1968 before embarking on a successful career in coaching, athletic administration and business.

Guenther was named the 17th Director of Athletics in 1992 after serving for two years with the University of Illinois Foundation as Director of Major Gifts and for three years as a partner with The Barofsky Association, a Chicago-area investments and marketing firm.

From June of 1988 to March of 1989, Guenther served as Interim Director of Athletics for External Operations, administering the development program, public relations, promotions, rickets, merchandise and summer camps. Guenther spent the previous three years within the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as associate athletic director for development, coordinating the "Campaign for Excellence in Athletics." That campaign began the first major facelift of athletic facilities in nearly 60 years on campus and provided the impetus for the eventual construction of Illinois Field for baseball, the UI Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Atkius Tennis Center and the Irwin Football Complex, housing coaches offices, locker rooms, sports medicine, strength and conditioning facilities and meeting rooms for Illinois football.

One of the nation's top athletic fund raisers, Guenther has been instrumental in soliciting gift commitments totaling more than $50 million toward capital improvements at Illinois during the last 15 years.

Firmly committed to delivering the Illinois message across the state and Midwest, Guenther served from 1983 to 1985 as assistant athletic director for Chicago operations, renewing a commitment that continues today to reach out to the thousands of Chicago-area alumni, donors and fans. During his tenure in Chicago, Guenther created the annual statewide caravan for promotion and public relations and saw a tripling in the number of donors to Illinois athletics.

Guenther spent eight years at North Central College in Naperville, Ill., including a stint from 1975-79 as director of admissions and also as an associate head football coach. From 1979-83, he served as the vice president of development and public affairs at North Central, helping to design and implement a $15 million Capital Campaign. As associate head football coach, Guenther helped the Cardinals amass a 23-12-2 record, including the school's first winning season in 15 years.

Before moving to North Central College, Guenther was offensive linecoach at Boston College from 1971-74, helping to develop nine National Football League players.

From 1968-71, Guenrhet was a teacher and coached football, wrestling and track and field for the Evanston Township and Glenbard High School systems in suburban Chicago.

Born Oct. 3, 1945, Guenther is a native of Evanston and a graduate of York High School. He lettered at Illinois in 1965 and 1966, helping Illinois to a 24-14-1 record in his four seasons. Guenther earned MVP honors on a squad that produced five All-Americans in 1966.

Big Ten Conference

The Big Ten – the nation's most outstanding conference – fields the nation's best in basketball year-in and year-out. Each year the Big Ten is tops in attendance and is among the leaders in number of reams receiving bids to the NCAA Tournament and number of teams ranked in the Top 25 during the season.

Tops In Attendance

For the 25th consecutive year, the Big Ten Conference led all NCAA conferences in home attendance for men's basketball. The league's attendance mark in 2000-01 (2,342,022) established an NCAA record, breaking the previous record from 1999-2000 (2,255,913), also set by the Big Ten. The Big Ten placed seven teams in the Top 25 nationally for home attendance (Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan State, Minnesota, Ohio State, Wisconsin).

Postseason Play

Seven teams in the NCAA Tournament... Two advance to the Elite Eight... Three teams in the Sweet Sixteen ... A Conference school advances to the Final Four for the third straight season. Another terrific postseason for the Big Ten! In addition to the seven teams that earned a spot in the Big Dance, Minnesota and Purdue finished their seasons with berths in the NIT.

Since the NCAA Tournament expanded to 64 teams in 1985, the Big Ten has recorded a 146-96 mark, with champions coming in 1987 (Indiana), 1989 (Michigan) and 2000 (Michigan State). Since 1985, the Big Ten has been represented in the Final Four 12 times, including four years with multiple

Since the first tournament in 1939, the Big Ten has a 265-157 record and league teams have advanced to the championship game 18 times, with a Big Ten team emerging as the champion 10 times. League schools have accounted for 40 appearances in the Final Four. The Big Ten is the all-time leader with 163 bids to the NCAA Tournament.

On the Television

The tremendous following that Big Ten basketball attracts in stadiums also lends itself to favorable television coverage. For the ninth straight season all 88 intraconference games will be televised. Conference teams will make no fewer than 25 appearances on ESPN, seven on espn2 and 13 on CBS. ESPN Regional will televise the remainder of the Big Ten games.

The Athletic Public Relations staff is here to help you in your coverage of Illinois basketball and don't hesitate to call any member of our staff if you need assistance during the course of the year.

Assembly Hall

All media will enter the arena through the Northeast gate and will park in the Northeast lot, located on the corner of Kirby and Fourth Streets. After you enter the Assembly Hall concourse, turn left to access the media room. We will have phone lines available in the media room where all press can work postgame. There also are two phone lines located on press row, floor level, for media use, but all media are encouraged to work from the press room. Occasionally, the Assembly Hall stage crew will be setting up for another event and the press row area will be taken down immediately following some games.

Before every home game a meal will be provided in the media room 1 1/2 hours prior to tip-off. You also may secure game programs, media guides and pre-game notes in the media room beginning two hours prior to tip-off.

Courtside Photography

All photographers must work from within the designated areas behind the baselines of the playing court. The University of Illinois follows NCAA and Big Ten guidelines regarding event photography. Photo locations are first-come, first-serve, but in the event of heavy demand for photo credentials for a particular game, shooting locations may be assigned.

Strobes—Photographers wishing to use strobe equipment at Illinois home games must notify the Illinois Sports Information staff at least one week in advance of the game for which they are requesting. There is a charge for installation and/or use of such equipment. A maximum of two strobe units may be used for any individual game.

All photographs are to be used in coverage of Illinois basketball and cannot be sold for any commercial enterprise benefiting the photographer.

Credentials

Any member of the media wishing to cover the Fighting Illini this season must request, in writing, credentials from Kent Brown in the Sports Information Office. All requests must be in writing on your company letterhead and be either mailed, emailed or faxed to Kent Brown.

NO credential requests will be accepted over the phone.

Due to limitations in seating numbers, all requests will be prioritized according to published circulation numbers. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed, either press or photo. Any non-working people in possession of a media credential will be asked to turn over the credential and leave the press area. No children are permitted in the press seating areas. Media agencies that violate this policy will not be issued credentials for future games.

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of the University of Illinois' rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and our agreement to abide by any restrictions the UI may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the UI may result in revocation of press credentials. The UI reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the internet.

Season requests must be received by November 1.

Single-game requests should be made at least 10 days prior to the date of the game.

Parking

A limited number of media parking passes are available for the 2001-02 men's basketball games at the Assembly Hall. The issuance of passes will be done on a priority basis with media who cover the University of Illinois basketball team on a regular basis holding the highest priority. Requests will then be prioritized according to circulation for newspapers and coverage area for radio and television. A replacement pass WILL NOT BE ISSUED IF THE ORIGINAL IS LOST. To avoid game traffic, media are encouraged to arrive at least 45 minutes prior to tip-off.

Telephones

Charge-a-call lines will be provided in the working press room. Any individual wishing to order phone lines for the season or for a single game should direct the request to Ameritech (800) 321-8152 during regular business hours. Postgame, all media are asked to utilize the phone lines in the working press room because the press row seating area on the floor will be taken down immediately following several games in preparation for the next event.

Fax-On-Demand

The University of Illinois will again utilize the Info Connection fax-on-demand system service. All media wishing to use this service must set up a pin number through info-connection. If you do not have a PIN, you can obtain one by calling Pivotal Communications at 770-399-0096.

Media are strongly encouraged to use the official Illinois athletics web site -- fightingillini.com -- to access the box score following home games.

Updated Illinois statistics will be available by 10 a.m. Central time the morning after each game, except when traveling by commercial means and in that case the stats will be updated later that day.

The University of Illinois will not be faxing its basketball releases to media personnel. All persons wishing to receive releases, stats, or box scores should register to use the fax-on-demand system or retrieve the information off our web site at www.fightingillini.com. Web Sites

Media credentials are issued only for individuals who are affiliated with web sites for national or regional television and news media organizations, e.g. USA Today Online, ESPN SportsZone, CNN/SI, CBS Sportsline, etc., for institutions that are conference members and non-conference opponents, and for the Big Ten Conference. The University of Illinois reserves the right to deny media credentials to any individual whose web site is not affiliated with an official news gathering organization.

Illinois releases, statistics and live radio coverage of the Fighting Illini games are available on the official University of Illinois athletic web site, www.fightingillini.com. In addition to men's basketball, live audio is available on the web for football, women's basketball, volleyball, softball, baseball and the coaches' radio show broadcasts.

Basketball Practice

Illinois basketball practices will generally be open to the media, although Coach Self reserves the right to close practices at his discretion. Media interested in attending practice should contact SID Kent Brown to confirm the time and place.

The Illinois basketball team will generally practice at 3 p.m. on weekdays and practice times on weekends will be listed as TBA. Most practices will be held at the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, except for isolated times when the team will practice at the Assembly Hall. Please note that the locker room area, weight room and training room are off limits to members of the media. In order to avoid congestion on the floor area, media who attend practice are asked to watch from the balcony area on the second floor that overlooks the court.

Interview Policies

All interview requests for Illinois players, Coach Self and members of the Illini coaching staff need to be set up with Kent Brown in the Illinois Sports Information Office. Please give at least 24 hours advance notice for interview requests. On days of scheduled press conferences, players will be available for interviews before practice. Otherwise, Coach Self, assistant coaches and players will be available for interviews following practice. An Illinois player also will be available on Coach Self's teleconferences if class schedules allow.

When the Illini are on the road, Illinois players and coaches will be available for interviews 15 minutes prior to the scheduled practice. After the first 15 minutes of practice, media will be asked to leave the practice site.

Post-game Interviews

The University of Illinois will utilize the media room, located on the mezzanine level on the Northeast side of the Assembly Hall, for post-game interviews. Coaches and players from both teams will be brought to this area for interviews. If you need to interview an Illinois player who has not been requested for the interview room, please make specific arrangements with a member of the Illinois Sports Information staff. The normal schedule will be the opposing coach and selected players first, followed by Illinois players and then Bill Self. Player requests for the visiting team should be made through that school's Basketball SID.

The Bill Self TV Show

This weekly 30-minute television program, hosted by Chris Widlic of WCIA-TV in Champaign, features game highlights and interviews with coaches, players and others involved with the Illinois basketball program. Viewers should consult their local listings for the dates and times of the telecasts.

Bill Self Radio Show

The Bill Self Show is a weekly call-in radio show aired statewide on the Illinois Sports Network. The show is hosted by Illini play-by-play announcer Jim Turpin and airs Monday's from 6:05-7 p.m. beginning on Dec. 10. In addition to the studio shows, the radio show will move to different sorority and fraternity houses on the UI campus. A complete schedule of the show will be listed in the weekly notes update.

Illini Sports Network

The Illini Sports Network radio team of Loren Tate, Stephen Bardo and Jim Turpin will team up for the second-straight year during the 2001-02 season.

The 45-station Illini Sports Network once again will bring Fighting Illini basketball to fans across the state with Jim Turpin, Loren Tate and former Illini great Stephen Bardo calling the action from courtside.

Jim Turpin is serving in his final season as the play-by-play voice of Illini basketball, a role he has had for most of the past 43 years. A 1961 graduate of the University of Illinois, Turpin has recently retired as general manager of WDWS and WHMS Radio in Champaign. He also will host "Bill Self Live," the network's weekly statewide radio call-in show with the coach of the Illini. Additionally, Turpin serves as co-host of the popular Saturday Morning Sportsline on WDWS/WHMS Radio. Turpin is a past winner of the Illinois Broadcasters Association's Silver Dome Award, given to Downstate Illinois' best play-by-play broadcaster.

Former Illini star guard Stephen Bardo will be in his second season as an expert analyst for the Illini Sports Network. A 1990 graduate of the UI, Bardo was a mainstay on the Flyin' Illini team that reached the Final Four in 1989. A hard-nosed defensive specialist, Bardo went on to a nine-year professional career that included stops in the NBA, CBA, USBL, Italy, Spain, France, Venezuela and most recently Japan. He has broadcasting experience working with CLTV in Chicago and on ESPN International NBA broadcasts.

Loren Tate is in his third decade covering Fighting Illini basketball on radio broadcasts.

For the 2001-02 season, Tate will serve as an analyst while conducting pregame, halftime and postgame interviews. Tate is the former executive sports editor of the Champaign-Urbana News-Gazette and in his retirement still covers the Illini football and basketball teams, writing columns for the paper.

Prior to assuming his position with The News-Gazette, Tate served as sports editor of the Hammond Times for 11 years. A 1953 University of Illinois graduate, Tate's career also includes extensive experience in the electronic media. He was sports director for WICD-TV from 1969-79. Currently, he co-hosts the Saturday Sportsline talk show with Turpin on WDWS/WHMS Radio.

The Illini Sports Network is managed by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, including management, distribution, sales operations, affiliate relations and programming. Illini Sports Network programming includes Illinois football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball, along with the popular "Illini Today" series, and the coaches' live weekly callin shows. "Bill Self Live" can be heard on Monday nights from 6-7 p.m. beginning Dec. 10.

ISN2 debuted in the fall of 1997, featuring alternative sports programming including "I on the Illini," a weekly 15-minute coaches show featuring all 18 sport programs. ISN2 also features expanded women's basketball and volleyball game coverage.
